Leader Must Decide Tonight On Sales Tax

GOP Takes Steps to Amend Legal Objections in Bill

HARRISBURG (UP) — The fight over reenactment of Pennsylvania's three per cent sales tax entered its final inning today as Gov. George M. Leader spent the day studying which of three courses to follow on the controversial measure.

The governor must decide by midnight whether he will sign the bill into law, let it go on the books without his signature by permitting the 10 day signing period to expire, or veto it.

Late Wednesday night, Republican legislative leaders took the first step to meet some of the Justice Department's objections to the bill by inserting proposed changes in enforcement and collection procedures into a "skeleton" bill which will be ready for final passage early next week. The changes were put in the companion measure by the House at a token session.

Leader went before a joint session of the General Assembly last week to voice his objections to the exemptions granted manufacturing and shipbuilding interests and public utilities. At the same time he said changes made in the Senate before the bill was sent to his desk made it "extremely difficult, if not impossible" to administer the tax.

Amendments

Amendments inserted in the skeleton bill Wednesday night will:

—Make employers responsible for the actions of their employes in connection with tax remittances. Originally the employer was responsible only if he had personal knowledge

—Permit persons seeking tax refunds to take their cases first to the state Revenue Department and finally to the courts.

—Permit the collection of refunds for a period dating back only 18 months rather than three years.

—Require posting of bonds only when the taxpayer had been delinquent three times during a 12-month period.

Wednesday's Senate session lasted only 40 minutes with most of the session confined to moving bills into position for final passage next week

The patchwork session held by the House lasted, with lengthy recesses, until late Wednesday night. But since the only action in the lower chamber consisted of inserting the amendments in the skeleton bill, all but a few House members were excused early in the day and the night meeting was a "consent" session.

"You can be sure this money will be put to very good use when the time comes," he told Mrs. Dudas.

The Library has acquired a site on Donner avenue between Third and Fourth streets on which it plans to erect the new building. Architectural plans are now being prepared.

Threat of Floods At Beaver

By UNITED PRESS

River forecasters issued precautionary flood warnings to five Western Pennsylvania counties today after a drenching rainfall dumped more than an inch of rain over the Beaver River basin in a 12-hour period.

Civil Defense authorities in Mercer, Lawrence, Beaver, Crawford, and Butler counties were advised to keep on the alert for possible flash floods which could result if the rain continues or heavy thunderstorms occur.

In Ohio, the threat of floods grew as swollen streams and rivers were fed by heavy rain. The Ohio River was reported rising one foot an hour at Cincinnati. Smaller streams and rivers all over Ohio already were over their banks.

Alert Is Urged

Vernon Houghton, chief hydrologist at the Federal-State flood forecasting service at Pittsburgh, said he asked Ross Webb, DC director for Western Pennsylvania at Butler, to advise authorities in the five-county northwestern Pennsylvania area drained by the Beaver and Shenango rivers and their tributaries to keep on the alert.

Houghton said 1¼ inches of rain fell over the Beaver watershed during the 12-hour period ending at 7 a.m. Another inch or so could cause "trouble", Houghton said, "and we thought it best to keep everyone advised."

Western Pennsylvania was pelted during the night with a combination of spring rains and wintry weather which produced snow, and hail. The storm, pushing across the Midwest, through the upper Ohio Valley, produced up to five inches of wet snow at Punxsutawney, Du Bois and Kane. Butler also had several inches and a half inch fell at Erie.

Today's western Pennsylvania forecast calls for cloudy, windy and a little warmer with rain and scattered thundershowers.

Houghton said there was little or no threat to the Monongahela River watershed area but the Ohio was rising below Pittsburgh

Brothers' Autos Hit in Accidents

Two brothers were involved here in separate hit-and-run accidents within the space of about 12 hours yesterday and today, police reported.

A car driven by Albert Ferrara, of 11 Pennsylvania boulevard, was struck by a hit-and-run driver yesterday afternoon on Third street about 1:30 p. m. and a car driven by his brother, Barto Ferrara, same address, was struck by a hit-and-run drive about 1:20 a. m. today near Third street and Donner avenue. The latter Ferrara said he was struck by a woman driver.

No heavy damage resulted, it was said.

Bill Would Open All Local, State Records

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to make state and local government records open to inspection at all times has been referred to a House subcommittee after failing to reach the chamber floor.

Rep. Marvin V. Keller (R-Bucks), chairman of the House State Government Committee, said the 20-member committee voted unanimously to refer the bill to a special group for "further study and possible amendment."

Reps. Harry W. Price Jr. (R-Mifflin), Edwin E. Lippincott (R-Delaware) and Paul F. Lutty (D-Allegheny) were named to the subcommittee.

The House legislation in its present form would make records of all local government offices, state boards and commissions and school districts open for inspection and examination by anyone. Any official prohibiting or preventing the inspection would be subject to a $100 fine.

Keller termed the bill "a hot potato." He said the subcommittee would study possible amendments to tighten the language, possibly making some records immune from the proposed provisions.

"For example, there is some feeling that school board records should not be open for public inspection," Keller said. "Discussions involving the hiring or firing of school teachers could be of a character-damaging nature in certain cases."

The bill is sponsored by two Republican lawmakers who are also newspapermen and the House GOP floor leader. Rep. Joseph P. Ujobai is editor of the Phoenixville Daily Republican and Rep. William K. Knecht publishes the West Schuylkill Herald, Tower City, and is vice president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association. Floor Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) was the third sponsor.

The publishers' association has strongly endorsed the bill and companion legislation to require open meetings of public bodies. The Senate bill, approved unanimously in that chamber, is in the House Municipal Corporations Committee.

Tornadoes Continue to Lash South; Rains Hit Midwest

By UNITED PRESS

A giant storm center sent a swarm of destructive tornadoes churning through the South today and lashed the nation's midsection with snows, drenching rains and high winds.

Two twisters slammed into Mississippi during the morning, one of them injuring about 30 persons at the Mississippi State Sanitorium near Jackson.

About 200 patients and staff members were in the five-story building when the storm hit. The building remained standing, but was badly damaged.

Another tornado was reported near Glen Allen, Miss., smashing seven homes, a store and church and three barns. Four persons were reported injured.

Death Count 22

A twister four miles south of Slemer, Tenn., early today destroyed two houses and seven cotton gins. Two tornadoes were reported south and east of Jackson, Tenn., about the same time. The storms were reported moving along a line between Muscle Shoals, Ala., to Chattanooga, Tenn

A United Press count showed a total of at least 22 persons killed and some 850 persons injured in the violent spring storm that began three days ago. Tornadoes have killed 16 persons, 10 of them in the Dallas, Tex., area, five persons died in the western snowstorm and one in a rainstorm in southern Illinois.

Winds up to 70 miles per hour swirled about the vortex of the storm, causing some damage in Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee and Ohio.

Weathermen said the slow-moving storm was centered in the Mid-Mississippi Valley today, and its influence was felt from the Northern Plains to the Appalachians.

Heavy snows swept the hard-hit Northern and Central Plains, burying Philip, S.D. under 14 inches since noon Wednesday and covering North Platte and Valentine, Neb., with 6 inches.

Lesser amounts were reported

Film Comedian, Ned Sparks, Dies at Ranch

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (UP)—Sour-faced veteran film comedian Ned Sparks died Wednesday night at his ranch here following a brief illness. He was 73.

Sparks, a native of Canada, earned a million dollars as the screen's one and only sour-puss comic. He retired from the movies temporarily in 1940, but returned to Hollywood after spending two years at Toronto, Canada.

The dead-pan comic, who once paid $3,500 for a pair of false teeth, had been living with his daughter here on his ranch for the past several years. The coroner's office reported the comedian's death resulted apparently from a heart condition.

Sparks came to Hollywood in 1919 and was in such movies as "Alice in Wonderland," "The Iron Man," and his last picture, "Magic."

He was born in Ontario, Canada under the name Edward A. Sparkman, but changed his name when he invaded Hollywood.

Search for Victims Of Powder Blast

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP)—Rescue workers dug through the ruins of some 200 flattened shanties today searching for victims of a powder warehouse explosion in suburban Villa Gramacho.

The blast took at least four lives and injured 500.

Police said from 20 to 30 tons of explosives blew up the warehouse of the Pernambuco Powder Co., leaving a gaping hole in the ground where the building had stood.

Mathies Growing In Production

The Mathies Coal Co. mine near Monongahela has moved into second place among the nation's top 25 tonnage mines, according to an announcement by the Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal Co.

First place is held by Peabody No. 10 mine in Illinois which in 1956 produced 3,427,000 tons of coal. Mathies' 1956 production was 3,013,000.

The No. 1 spot in the past has been held by U. S Steel's Robena mine in Greene County. Robena was split during the past year into three mines and thus gave up the top position.

Annexation not the Answer, Experts Say

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP)—A federal urban renewal expert says better area administration and not annexation is the answer to the problems facing Pennsylvania's communities and their surrounding townships.

Harold F. Alderfer, assistant commissioner of the Urban Renewal Administration, told the seventh annual Pennsylvania Newspaper Editors seminar here Wednesday most people moved from the city to escape undesirable situations.

The suburbanites are reluctant, he declared, to be annexed back to the same condition.

Alderfer said it is the function of the county to ease some of the burden thrown on the state for road construction and other public works in the suburban areas.

State Sen. J. O. Hays (D-Clearfield), in a panel discussion on "Home Town Headaches and What to Do About Them", pointed to the teacher and school shortages as the major problems facing Pennsylvania.

The teaching problem would not exist, the senator insisted, if the profession were made more attractive. And he said more funds would be made available if school districts eliminated some of the "ginger bread" from their plans for new structures.

L. D. Matter, chief of the state Department of Public Health's Water Supply Section, told the 42 newsmen the three most common water problems are shortage, "growing pain," and bad supplies

The shortage, he said was created by larger per capita and industrial demands and by the inability of water companies and municipal authorities to keep up with the increased demand which began during World War II when it was difficult to install and maintain equipment.

Victor C. Diehm, president and general manager of Hazleton Broadcasting Co., addressed the banquet.

The seminar was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors and Pennsylvania State University.

Summerfield in Squabble Over Appropriation

WASHINGTON (UP)—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced publicly today that he may have to order a drastic cutback in mail service starting Saturday unless Congress gives him an emergency 47 million dollars appropriation.

He said he may have to shut down all post office windows on Saturdays, halt Saturday mail delivery service and make other reductions in service.

Summerfield called an "emergency" press conference to announce that he was waiting "minute by minute and hour by hour" to decide what mail service cuts would have to be made.

Summerfield said "this will be the most difficult decision any postmaster general in history has ever been called on to make."

His decision hinges on the outcome of an angry row with the Democratic-controlled House Appropriations subcommittee which has voted to give him only 17 million dollars of the 47 million dollars he says he needs to keep the department going full-blast until July 1.

Democrats Firm

Democrats on the subcommittee were standing firm, but Republicans hoped that the House would side with Summerfield and vote him the full amount.

Summerfield said the Post Office Department is considering the following curtailments:

—Embargo acceptance and delivery of all third-class mail, except merchandise.

—Discontinue city carrier delivery of all classes of mail on Saturdays.

—Close all post offices on Saturdays and discontinue rural delivery of all classes of mail on Saturdays.

—Discontinue sale of money orders throughout the country for the next three months.

—Reduce deliveries of mail in business districts of cities from two and three a day to one a day.

Summerfield declined to say which of the measures would be given "priority."

He said the action of the House Appropriations subcommittee in voting only $7 million dollars of his 47 million dollar request "is one of the most disturbing things I've ever been confronted with in my lifetime."

'Fault of Congress'

Summerfield said the 17 million dollars would cover only pay increases to postal employes.

He disclaimed any "responsibility" on the part of the Post Office Department or the administration for any reduction in mail service that might have to be undertaken.

"It is no fault of the Americans if they are not paying enough," Summerfield declared. "It is the fault of the Congress."

This was a reference to administration efforts to get postal rate increases.

Summerfield blamed Congress for submitting to the "pressures" of the "magazine lobby and third-class lobby."

He said these "lobbies" have

School Subsidy Payments Made By the State

HARRISBURG (UP) — State subsidy payments totaling $59,266,169 have been made to first, second and third class school districts.

Gov. George M. Leader said first class districts received $10,830,006; second class districts $11,015,193 and third class district, $37,420,969. He said the payments were made April 2, adding it was the third consecutive time the school subsidy payments were made on time.

(The Monessen School District received a subsidy payment of $121,337.74 yesterday, Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of schools, announced today.)

Payments totaling $14,305,405 were sent out March 27 for school transportation expenses and fourth class districts received more than 48 million dollars, March 1.

The subsidies are state contributions to the cost of instruction in the state's schools. The Commonwealth also contributes to tuition, new school buildings, vocational education and driver training courses.

Friedland's Is 'Visited' Again

Burglars broke into Friedland's Fashion Store at 515 Donner avenue sometime during the night and took a traveling bag containing clothes belonging to the owner, Joseph Friedland, police reported.

Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka said no money was taken. An inventory will be made to see if any stock is missing.

Entrance was gained through a trap door in the rear of the store. The main part of the store was entered by forcing open a door.

It was the third entry made at the store by burglars in the past several weeks. On two other visits the burglars escaped with money.

Leader's Record Is Hit

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn said Wednesday night the "pitiful record" of Gov. George Leader in Pennsylvania presented the GOP with one of its "biggest opportunities" in 1958.

Alcorn, speaking at a testimonial dinner for three Pennsylvania Republicans, charged that the state government was "bogged down in Democrat ineptness, inefficiency, fumbling and foundering."

He also renewed GOP charges that the National Democratic Party "coddled Communists" and provided a climate for "corruption." Alcorn termed the party today a "loose confederation of politicians with a common desperate desire to exercise power."

The dinner was in honor of Rep. High Scott (R-Pa.); George Bloom Pennsylvania GOP state chairman, and Charles Smith, auditor general-elect of the state.

Alcorn said the Democratic Party stands "for bureaucracy, centralization of power in Washington, big government. It is the party which has demonstrated repeatedly an inability to keep us out of war."

He said the Democrats practiced deficit financing, and let the prestige of the White House sink "to an all-time low."

'Sense of Mission'

Alcorn defined "modern Republicanism" as the belief "in an adherence to all of those traditional principles which have made our party great, but with one important added ingredient—a sense of mission."

He said it is the difference between one Republican being content in believing in the things the party stands for, and in another wanting to put those principles to work.

The points of agreement in the Republican Party, Alcorn said, were more numerous and more important than the points of disagreement. But, he said, this is just the opposite of the Democratic Party.

Alcorn also added that because the Republicans lost Congress in the last election some people think they lost the election.

He said "it is reliably reported that the research department at Democratic National Committee headquarters recently concluded that there had been an alarming decline in their party's strength throughout the country."

The GOP chairman said the survey showed that the 42 states where Democrats won congressional majorities reflect a total of 242 electoral votes.

"If these figures mean anything, they do mean a continuing marked decline in Democrat strength," Alcorn said.

U.S. Wants Delay in 'Final' Release of the Nasser Plan

By UNITED PRESS

The United States sought today to delay "final" publication of the Nasser plan for operating the Suez Canal but indications grew that Egypt would reject any suggestion smacking of international control.

The position of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt was strengthened by the apparent victory in Jordan of his ally, Premier Suleiman Nabulsi, in Nabulsi's struggle for power with King Hussein.

Jordan's Ramallah Radio broadcast a statement from Nabulsi saying the nation would develop further its relations with the Soviet Union — an indication Nabulsi had triumphed over Hussein.

Israel Expressed Concern

Israel expressed growing concern over the situation in Jordan and the Jerusalem Post warned editorially that Israel could not remain idle if Saudi Arabian troops occupied the Jordanian port of Aqaba.

The editorial was considered significant because the Post usually reflects Israeli government thinking.

It also came soon after Foreign Minister Golda Meir told the Knesset (parliament) that Israel still faced grave political and "perhaps even military" struggles in its fight for "innocent passage" of international waters.

Egypt had announced it would publish its Suez plan today and that the plan would become "final" once it was made public. Diplomats in Cairo said a last-minute series of negotiations by U.S. and Egyptian officials might delay publication.

Six Principles

Both nations have exchanged notes during the past week as the United States sought to have Nasser include in his plan the six principles for canal operation as laid down by the U.N. Security Council.

In Washington a diplomatic source said Egypt's reply had been "unsatisfactory." And in Cairo the Egyptian press launched a heavy attack on the six principles.

The six principles call for free navigation of the canal by all ships and for divorcing operation of the canal from Egyptian politics — an act that would permit Israeli shipping to use the waterway. The Cairo press said the Anglo-French invasion killed that plan last fall.

'Show Goes On' Despite Death Of Daughter

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—The mother of a theatrical family "went on with the show" in the Ice Follies opening Wednesday night despite her daughter's tragic drowning.

Teddy Roman, skating star, not many hours before had saved 4-year-old Craig Leff from drowning, unaware that at that very moment his own 4-year-old daughter, Christine, had become lost.

The little girl's body was soon found at the bottom of the tiny lake where she had been playing with other children. Roman was unable to take his part in Wednesday night's performance. His wife appeared, however.

Roman said he noticed a group of children playing in the lake near the trailer park where his mobile home is parked and ran to the rescue when he saw the Leff child struggling in the water.

He got the youngster out, gave him artificial respiration, and then noticed his own child was missing.

Erie to Have Bomb Drill

ERIE, Pa. (UP) —Civil defense authorities today launched a drive to sign 1,000 families for "Operation Move Out' — a mass evacuation drill.

The families will move out of their "bomb-threatened" homes Friday, April 26, and spend the night as "stranded evacuees" in five communities in the western section of the county.

Churches, schools, private camps and homes in Girard, Albion, Union City, Springfield and Waterford will provide shelter for the evacuees who will sleep on cots provided by the federal government.

Dave Parmenter, executive civil defense director for Erie County and operation organizer, said Rep Carroll Kearns (R-Pa.) was trying to arrange for federal surplus food for the participants.

Burning Object Sought in Swamp

SHERIDAN, Ark. (UP)—Searchers will resume their hunt today for the object, possibly a plane, which was seen burning late Wednesday night in a sprawling, remote swamp 13 miles from Sheridan.

After one person said he saw a plane go down in the area and several others reported seeing a fire in the same locality, townspeople, state police and Grant County sheriff's officers started a search through the swamp.

Little Rock Air Force Base, 33 miles north of here, and Adams Field (municipal airport) also at Little Rock, reported no planes missing or overdue. There was speculation that the object might have been a meteor.

under the heavy rainfall. The Allegheny was rising slightly, but the Monongahela was reported falling.

Pool conditions were forecast at the juncture of the Mon, Allegheny and Ohio rivers at Pittsburgh by 7 a. m. Friday. Downtown Wharf parking areas were ordered closed.

Weather Bureau spokesmen at Pittsburgh emphasized there was little danger of flooding unless sudden, severe thunderstorms hit the presently rain-soaked areas, which have been pelted by rains over the past two days.

Forecaster Henry Rockwood said continuing light rains posed only minor flood threats along the smaller, already swollen streams.

The Pittsburgh Weather Bureau said 1.46 inches of rain fell in the Pittsburgh area from April 1 to 7 a.m. today, with southwestern Pennsylvania receiving about two inches during the same period. The northwestern counties received ¾ to 1 inch of rain during the same period, Forecaster Rockwood said.

Summerfield said that in his appearance before the appropriations subcommittee Wednesday he had "emphasized the needed funds" were due to an increase in mail volume reflecting the general prosperity of the country. He said service of letter carriers had been extended to millions of new homes. He also pointed out that the funds included postal pay raises voted by Congress.

He said the proposed postal reductions may affect some 20,000 employes. He said the action also will "penalize" the American people.

Summerfield said that if Congress had "resisted the pressures of special interests" and users of subsidized mail, the Post Office Department budget would have been practically in balance.

Summerfield said that when he first put the suggested postal service cuts "down on paper," it made him "heartsick." He said he welcomed any "constructive suggestion" from Congress as to "how we can improve service and decrease costs."

U. S. Looking for Speedy Decision in Steel Merger Case

NEW YORK (UP)—The federal government indicated today it hopes to obtain a speedy decision in its efforts to block the merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

Allen Dobey, assistant U.S. attorney general, dropped a legal bombshell Wednesday when he announced the goverment would file a motion for a summary judgment within the next 30 days.

A spokesman for Bethlehem Steel declined to comment on the development. He indicated the move caught the company by surprise.

The move surprised attorneys present at a pre-trial hearing in the government's anti-trust suit against Bethlehem and Youngstown, the Nation's No. 2 and No. 6 ranked steel producers.

The proposed merger would be one of the biggest in the history of American industry, creating a steel giant with sales and assets well in excess of 2 billion dollars. The consolidation would, however, not jeopardize U.S. Steel Corp.'s ranking as the world's biggest steelmaker.

Charges Decrease Competition

The government has opposed the marriage of the two steel firms ever since they first announced their intention to merge some two years ago. Attorney General Brownell has charged the merger would lessen competition in the steel industry.

The steel companies vigorously denied the government's contention and argued the merger actually would stimulate competition. Last December, Bethlehem announced it planned to go ahead with the move despite the Justice Department's opposition to it.

The government immediately filed an anti-trust suit against the steel companies to block the merger.

At pre-trial hearings Wednesday before Judge Edward Weinfeld, Dobey told the judge "we believe we have sufficient facts, not subject to dispute, to entitle us to a summary judgment."

He said the necessary papers will be filed within 30 days. If the judge feels the government has proven its case, he can sign the summary judgment barring the merger. If not, he can reject the request for a summary judgment, which means the case will go to trial.

Legal experts told the United Press the move indicates the government is seeking a fast decision without going through with what probably would be a long trial. If the government loses its bid for a summary judgment, they added, it might indicate a weakness in the government's case.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. has facilities on the East and West coasts. Youngstown is centered in the rich midwestern market. Spokesmen for both companies have argued for months that the proposed merger would be beneficial because it would open new markets for both companies' products. This, they contended, would stimulate, not eliminate, competition in the steel industry.

The Justice Department said previously that the two companies were in competition on a number of products. The companies denied this charge, too.

In a statement issue in December, Bethlehem Chairman Eugene G. Grace said the merger would "be beneficial to the economy, the nation's defense, the steel industry and stockholders of both companies."

Midgets Out to Better Things For 'Little Ones'

RENO, Nev. (UP)—The Midgets of America drew up pint-sized resolutions today aimed at making it a better world for little people.

The 27 delegates planned to take up such vital matters as the height of phones in public booths, how to squeeze onto a rush hour bus and the facilities in rest rooms.

Another matter of grave concern was the problem of clothes. Most midgets have to have all their clothes tailored and their shoes hand made. They said "big people" should be aware of their plight.

There are about 160 midgets in the United States. Until now, they have had no organization.

However, they met at the Riverside Hotel Wednesday and decided to form the Midgets of America and to set up permanent headquarters here. The hotel gave them free rooms and meals at half price.

Ike's Plan for Disabled Leader Calls for Honesty

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday his plan for dealing with disabled presidents is based on the assumption that it would be carried out by honest men who would not misuse it to try to seize power.

Mr. Eisenhower, defending the plan at his news conference, said he felt the American people would "resent very bitterly" any attempt to misuse his proposal.

The President has recommended to Congress a constitutional amendment to allow a president to declare his own disability and to hand over his powers temporarily to the vice president. If the president were too ill to make the decision himself, the cabinet would.

The plan has run into stiff congressional opposition — especially the section investing the cabinet with the right to declare a president unable to carry on with his duties. Some influential congressmen predict it will be defeated.

Services Held for Publisher

BRYN MAWR, Pa. (UP) — A memorial service for Richard W. Slocum, executive vice president of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, who died Sunday, was held here Wednesday with many persons prominent in the newspaper and radio profession attending.

The service for the 55-year-old Slocum, former president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, was held at the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church. It was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Rex S. Clements.

Slocum, who joined the Evening Bulletin in 1938, died in University Hospital in Philadelphia after a long illness.

Judge L. Stauffer Oliver, chairman of the board of trustees for the Mary Bailey Foundation for heart and great vessel research in Philadelphia, announced that a testimonial dinner planned in honor of Slocum would take place as scheduled on April 13.

William Dwight, Holyoke, Mass., will deliver a eulogy at the dinner. He succeeded Slocum as president of the ANPA.

Among those attending the services were: Robert McLean, publisher of the Evening Bulletin; Richard Lloyd Jones, publisher of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune and president of the ANPA's advertising bureau; Cranston Williams of the ANPA; Paul Miller, executive vice president of the Gannett newspapers.

Plan to Test Safety Of Atomic Stockpiles

WASHINGTON (UP)— A major purpose of tests starting in Nevada next Wednesday is to prove that atomic air defense weapons may be safely stockpiled next door to every large American city.

The Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission already are convinced, on the basis of past tests, that it is next to impossible to explode such weapons accidentally.

But they are taking no chances. The new safety tests, starting April 10 and continuing intermittently into next fall, are designed to make assurance doubly sure.

In addition to these handling and storage tests, which do not involve atomic explosions, the AEC also will stage its sixth series of atomic weapons experiments at the Nevada Proving Ground. It announced Wednesday that the new atomic tests will start about May 15 and continue at intervals through the summer.

Close observers of atomic developments expect the nuclear explosions to:

—Lead to development of 7¼-inch atomic artillery shells, the smallest yet attempted, and of tiny but potent tactical A-bombs for delivery by high-speed, low-level fighter-bombers.

—Refine previously developed guided missile warheads to reduce the great waste of nuclear materials inherent in existing small atomic weapons. It is a rule of atomic weaponeering so far that the smaller the weapon, the more inefficient its use of materials.

—Provide new data on the "quake effect" of subsurface atomic explosions. There is reason to believe this effect can accomplish destruction greater than would be inflicted by air blast alone.

—Supply information now lacking on the feasibility of mass shelters against atomic violence. The AEC has confirmed that the Nevada program will have civil defense aspects.

—Prove that atomic tests can be carried out under circumstances which make detection by other countries impossible.

—Fix a lower limit on the violence of feasible atomic weapons. Some of this year's shots are expected to be comparable in power to merely hundreds of tons of TNT. The largest U.S. bomb ever exploded—at Bikini in 1954 — was the equivalent of some 15 million tons of TNT. Some of the 1957 Nevada shots, according to the AEC, will be of "very low yield." Some past Nevada explosions have been under 1,000 tons TNT equivalent.

Special Hearing Questions Asked In Pardons Probe

HARRISBURG (UP) — The legislative committee investigating the state Pardons Board was expected today to ask a Delaware County attorney to tell how he obtained a special hearing for a client seven days before making a formal application to the board in writing.

Previous testimony by board secretary Frank R. Hean revealed that a special listing was granted Louis DeVito, one-time official of the Chester local of the International Longshoremen's Association, after Hean received a telephone request for the special listing from DeVito's attorney, Francis R. Lord, Upper Darby.

Not until one week later did the board receive the required application for a hearing from Lord. The appeal, which was heard in October, 1956, was rejected by the board, but after a second hearing in January, DeVito's 23-month sentence was reduced to one-year.

Attorney General Thomas D. McBride, a member of the board since January, testified Wednesday in defense of the board's action.

Denying that political pressure was used to influence any member of the board, McBride said the motivating reason behind the board action was the members' opinion that the 23-month sentence imposed by Delaware County Judge Arthur P. Bretherick was "excessive."

Raps Judge

While testifying, McBride took the opportunity to hit back at Bretherick, a long-time critic of the board who told the investigating committee several weeks ago to "rip out the Pardons Board it stinks."

"Statements made here and elsewhere by Judge Bretherick have resulted in my having a low opinion of him as an administrator of justice," he said.

Referring to a statement by Bretherick before the committee that he is "one million per cent Republican," the attorney general said. "I had the impression that that is about 5 per cent too much for any judge."

Regarding the jurist's criticism of the board for acting contrary to the recommendations of sentencing judges, McBride told the committee:

"It is inevitable under the type of government we have that the Board of Pardons may differ with the judge, and a legislative committee may differ with the board."

Asked whether he approves of the board as it is presently constituted, McBride replied that "among law enforcement officials throughout the country the Pennsylvania system of executive clemency is deemed to be about as good as any in the nation."

While he suggested that the investigators might recommend to the Legislature that it provide a larger budget and a larger administrative staff, he indicated that there was nothing improper in the board being composed of political appointees and elected officials.

Clemency by Governor

Pointing out that the privilege of clemency is granted to the governor, he said that therefore the governor should be permitted to have the board which advises him composed of persons "in whom he can trust and upon whose judgement he can rely."

Asked if the "political complexion of the board" doesn't lend itself to charges of political preference and pressure, McBride replied that it is the duty of all public officials "to stand up against it."

"In a democracy there will always be the suggestion made that a political official is politically influenced," he said.

McBride also denied on the witness stand a published story that he obtained a commitment from Gov. George M. Leader to appoint former Philadelphia County Commissioner Morton Witkin, a Republican, to a judgeship if the Legislature creates another Common Pleas Court in that city.

The attorney general said the story was "an obvious attempt to discredit" Witkin as a witness when he appears before the committee in the David Darcy clemency case.

Joseph H. Miller, of the Philadelphia Inquirer, was then called to the stand to testify about his story. He said that while it came from a "reliable" source, he stood on his "right to protect my sources of information as a newspaperman."

Milk Commission Is Stymied at Hearing

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission, investigating price cutting charges, found its way blocked by Fifth Amendment witnesses.

Fifteen of 18 witnesses subpenaed for a commission session here Wednesday refused to testify, contending the Fourth and Fifth Amendments gave them the right to remain mum.

The witnesses said the commissioners did not have authority to ask for testimony on allegations that milk dealers cut prices and gave cash kickbacks to big consumers, such as restaurants and institutions.

Commission counsel John McShea indicated the refusals might result in a court test of the right to invoke the constitutional amendments.

"We have the power to seek what information we can from witnesses," McShea said. "After all, the Milk Control Commission is intended for the protection of consumer and dealer alike."

Commissioners Joab K. Mahood and Simon Uhl, with McShea, spent most of the day here but obtained litte results. Of the eighteen witnesses subpenaed, two were excused, a third gave testimony of no value, and the remainder balked.

Mahood and Uhl investigated similar reports of price cutting at Erie on Monday. But after hearing eight witnesses there concluded the price situation was "in good shape in Northwestern Pennsylvania." But they indicated they believed such was not the case in the Pittsburgh area.

"If dealers can afford to cut their prices or give kickbacks to the big consumer," Mahood said, "then the average milk-drinker is entitled to a reduction in price too."

Traffic Hearings Opened

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Bus line operators today urged creation of traffic lanes for the exclusive use of mass transit vehicles during peak traffic hours.

The recommendation was made at the first of a series of public hearings scheduled throughout Pennsylvania by Gov. George M. Leader's Committee on Urban Mass Transportation.

Thomas Lewis Jones, representing the Independent Bus Operators Assn. of Allegheny County, urged that additional lanes known as "transitways," be set up along key highways. Jones, whose group represents 21 transportation firms in the Pittsburgh area, also advocated elimination of street corner stops for busses as a solution to traffic problems.

Transit Lanes

Opposing supporters of municipal ownership of transportation facilities, Jones contended privately operated bus lines can meet the challenge of mass transit.

A spokesman for downtown Pittsburgh merchants also advocated the use of mass transit lanes. Joseph Feldman, executive secretary of the Golden Triangle Assn., said nearly 600,000 persons enter and leave downtown Pittsburgh daily along with more than 200,000 automobiles.

The use of lanes of traffic exclusively for the use of mass transit during peak traffic hours would help relieve congestion, Feldman said. He also recommended elimination of street parking facilities or turning privileges interfering with the free movement of mass transit lines.

Four Children Burn to Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)— Four children, all under 7, burned to death Wednesday night when their home, 10 miles southeast of here caught fire from an overheated stove.

Dr. Robert A. Evans, coroner, said the children of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Triplett were found in a bedroom, three on one bed, the other on the floor.

Deputies said the fire started from an overheated stove, fired up by the father just before he left to meet his wife after she got off work.

A fifth child, aged 11, was away from home on a visit. Deputies said the parents were ordered into domestic relations court last week following a family quarrel.

Beck Opens Defense In Glossy Magazine Mailed to Members

WASHINGTON (UP)— Teamster President Dave Beck today opened an apparent self-defense and re-election campaign through his union's glossy dues-supported magazine.

The April issue of the magazine went out to the nation's 1,500,000 teamsters less than three days after the Teamster Executive Committee was reported to have junked Beck's proposed 1 million dollar "truth" campaign.

Beck wanted to stage a national publicity campaign with union funds to tell the Teamster answer to Senate Rackets Committee charges that he took $322,000 in Teamster cash for his own use. But the Executive Board in an apparent revolt approved only a limited fund to fight "anti-labor legislation."

A 'Letter' From Beck

However, the magazine—headed by Editor Beck—was crammed with special features about President Beck and his Fifth Amendment stand before the rackets committee. The magazine's glossy cover listed the titles of the Bill of Rights.

Inside, a "letter" from Beck to the union's members:

—Implied that the Senate investigation is part of a "scare campaign" designed to "cleave union members away from their unions and thereby achieve a situation whereby a reactionary group of management can cut back on labor costs."

—Boasted that wage increases for the "average" Teamsters Union member has far outstripped increases for other workers since December, 1952, "when I took office."

September Election Set

Beck has already announced he will run for re-election despite the Senate charges. The Teamsters will hold their first national election since 1952 in September. By that time, Beck could be running against an AFL-CIO demand for his ouster.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee announced Wednesday that it will give the Teamsters Union a hearing May 6 as part of its investigation to determine whether the union—largest in the nation—is dominated by corrupt influences.

The magazine also featured a statement by Beck's attorney—former Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa)—defending use of the Fifth Amendment before congressional committees.

Duff said the amendment was "for the protection of the innocent as well as the guilty."

Russian Club To Honor Yoney At Sunday Affair

The Russian-American Association, of 209 Schoonmaker avenue, Monessen, will hold a testimonial banquet honoring Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen D. Yoney, of Monessen, Sunday beginning at 4:30 p. m. in the club's banquet rooms.

About 150 members and their guests are expected.

Judge Edward G. Bauer, of the county common pleas court, will be principal speaker. Mayor Hugo J. Parente will give the welcome address. Other county and city officials have been invited.

John Pacak, vice president of the organization, is banquet chairman. Edward Ratica, president, will present Yoney with a gift in behalf of the club.

Predicts End of Refugee Program In Two Weeks

WASHINGTON (UP) - Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) predicted today the government will call a halt to its Hungarian refugee program in the next two weeks.

Walter, head of the House Immigration subcommittee, recently asked Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. to stop admitting Hungarian refugees to this country.

"In my opinion, the program will be closed down and the only ones admitted will be members of families who were separated," Walter told the United Press.

About 30,000 Hungarians have been brought to this country since the revolt against the Communist government was suppressed by Soviet troops last October.

Walter has been critical of the security screening given the refugees.

Stuck with Sticker

CHATTANOOGA, Penn. (UP)— The City Council voted to refund $5 to the 15-year-old writer of the following letter: "I bought a $5 city sticker for an old car I wanted to rebuild and use. I never got the car to run. I never took the sticker out of the envelope. I need the $5 very badly."

Industry Gain Is Reported

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —Industrial activity in Pennsylvania showed a two per cent gain over a year ago for the highest level in that month since 1953.

The Pennsylvania State University's Bureau of Business Research reported its index of industrial activity in February reached 120, as compared with 118 last year and 119 in January. The index, using the years 1947-49 as 100, is based on coal production, employe hours in manufacturing and industrial power sales.

New February highs were reported for bank debits, telephones, life insurance sales, factory payrolls and industrial power sales. Factory employment was the best since 1954 and factory hours the highest since 1953.

Other gains over 1956 were in crude petroleum, hotel receipts, building contracts, department store sales. Eastern district steel production held level with last year despite a decline in new orders.

Some Declines

The bureau reported, however, that general business was not as good in February as in January despite improvements for building contracts, industrial power sales, factory payrolls and life insurance sales. Factory hours and street railway traffic showed no change.

Declines were reported in Pittsburgh steel production, department store sales, bank debits, motor vehicle sales, postal receipts, carloadings, coal production, building operations and factory employment.

The lowest levels in recent years were noted for anthracite coal, street railway traffic and building operations. Losses from 1956 included bituminous coal production, Allegheny carloadings, postal receipts, motor vehicle sales and Pittsburgh - Youngstown district steel production.

Both the cost-of-living and retail goods costs rose to an all-time high for February. Consumers' prices have increased for the 11th consecutive month.

He Wanted the Winning Number

MEXICO CITY (UP)— Ignacio Mejia Gonzalez, a 27-year-old bootblack, said today he stabbed a fortune teller because she failed to predict the winning number in an $80,000 lottery.

The bootblack told police the crystal gazer, who operates under the name of Nelly Muley, charged him $16, but gave him the wrong number.

Rock 'n' Roll Called 'Caveman Orgy'

MOSCOW (UP) —Former Soviet Foreign Minister Dimitri Shepilov told a congress of Russian composers Wednesday night that American boogie woogie and rock 'n' roll music "represent some kind of wild caveman orgy."

They have no melody or beauty, he said.

Critics off Base

SOME of the criticism which we read these days of the conduct of American foreign policy by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles seems to us to be open to criticism itself on the grounds that it is aimed more at the honor and patriotism of the President and Secretary than at their judgment and skill.

To cite a handy example, Drew Pearson is writing in his column today about the Middle East — or the Near East, as he prefers to call it. And repeatedly throughout the article the term "double-cross" appears with reference to the Eisenhower administration's relations with Israel, Mr. Pearson apparently accepting at full value foreign criticism that the President or Mr. Dulles or both "welshed" on some unwritten agreement with Israeli officials concerning the Gaza Strip.

Now, Mr. Pearson is perfectly at liberty to believe what he chooses and whom he chooses and to base a criticism on what he believes.

But it seems to us wrong of Mr. Pearson — or any other American commentator — to be implying, as he continually does, that the President and Secretary do what they do from motives which are less honorable than they ought to be.

Mr. Pearson has no proof that the United States government "welshed" on an agreement, else he would produce it in support of his comment. He merely chooses to accept the suspicion or propaganda of others that this is what happened.

It seems to us that any American who addresses himself to the subject of foreign policy ought to assume — in the absence of positive proof to the contrary — that the President's actions in this field are honestly designed to serve the best interests of the United States.

Such an assumption does not prevent us from disagreeing with the President's actions or from criticizing them. But it does, at least, free the President of the unnecessary and disagreeable chore of proving that he is an honorable and patriotic gentleman everytime he makes a policy decision.

Routine—but Why?

THE FEDERAL budget-makers and lawmakers are having a rough time with some of the citizens who are becoming convinced that the only way to cut the cost of government is to stop some of the spending. This is a hard fight, as history proves, but we're all with the citizens.

Tuesday's Daily Independent contained a report that the federal government will spend big money on new runways for airports near Latrobe, Waynesburg and Pittsburgh. This is routine procedure, of course, but why should it be?

A good case can be made for a nation in its infancy to boost in every way possible the development of its transportation facilities. That's obviously how this business of subsidizing carriers got started. But can anyone pretend that our carriers haven't come of age now and that they shouldn't support themselves without the crutch of a government handout?

If the airlines need runways at Latrobe or elsewhere, they should expect to install them or pay rent to someone else who installs them, in which case the government need not have its finger in the pie at all. If the air services don't need the runways, no one has any business building them.

Sooner or later some such hard-headed approach to the necessity of handouts is going to have to come into play. And if we don't soon have a more realistic determination of what is and what isn't necessary, Uncle Sam is going to be an applicant for someone else's foreign aid.

Texas Normal

THE VOTERS of Texas obviously decided to do what came naturally in their off-beat senatorial election on Tuesday. Out of a mob of 20 candidates, of whom no more than three were serious contenders, they selected a fairly routine Democrat, Ralph Yarborough, to fill out the unexpired Senate term of their new governor, Price Daniel.

Any other result than this, especially the choice of a very attractive young Republican candidate, Thad Hutcheson, would have been noteworthy. But Texas, with tornadoes blowing all over the place on Tuesday, was in no mood to make political news. In fact, most of the state's voters were in no mood to go to the polls at all.

Mr. Yarborough's record in politics does not suggest that he is going anyplace in particular. This was his fifth contest for a statewide office and the first time he had won anything. It would not be quite fair, perhaps, to say that he is not going to be an outstanding Senator before he even gets to Washington, but that would have to be the logical expectation.

Jim Hagerty, the President's sharp-tongued press secretary, has hired a woman assistant. Now we'll see who has all the answers.

Merry-Go-Round—

Danger not Ended in Near East

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Things are simmering a bit more silently in the Near East since the Bermuda conference, but they are still simmering dangerously. Three developments point to danger:

Mr. Pearson

Development No. 1—The American Embassy in Jerusalem has warned the State Department that Prime Minister Ben-Gurion is deadly serious about going to war against Egypt the minute Nasser shows the first sign of starting his border raids again. Ben-Gurion and his entire cabinet are convinced both Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles welshed on their promise that Egypt would not return to the Gaza Strip.

Development No. 2—Dulles's statement last week that transit through the Gulf of Aqaba should be submitted to the World Court, further convinced the Israelis that they had been double-crossed. His statement brought Israeli Minister Shiloah down to the State Department to remind Dulles that earlier he had said Israel had every right to pass through this narrow waterway. The protection of U. S. naval vessels was even discussed. Dulles's later proposal of putting the question before the World Court would take a year or more of argument.

Development No. 3—Premier Mollet has promised the Israelis protection of the French Air Force if they decide to attack Nasser again.

Premier Mollet is so burned up over the double-cross given to Israel that he has vowed never to trust any agreement with Eisenhower as long as Dulles remains Secretary of State. It was Mollet who, while visiting in Washington last February, was largely responsible for persuading the Israelis to pull out of the Gaza Strip.

Eisenhower at that time had personally promised that the United States would get tough if Nasser moved to return; and Mrs. Golda Meir's speech outlining the terms of Israeli withdrawal was personally read by both Mollet and Dulles before delivery. The terms were that "civil administrative control" of the Gaza Strip would remain in the hands of the U. N.

Israel has the toughest, most determined army in the Near East. But it has lacked air power. With French air power backing it up, American diplomats know that no Arab army or combination of Arab armies could long stand up against it. They are even more afraid of what Russia might do, however, in case war broke in the Near East.

NOTE — At Bermuda, British Prime Minister Macmillan urged the President to adopt a tough policy toward Nasser. Ike refused. At one point Macmillan asked how much more proof was needed that Nasser was a power-man fanatic. Eisenhower replied that more was needed than was then available.

Inside Bermuda

Secretary of State Dulles is technically correct when he claims no secret deals were made at the Bermuda conference. Inside fact is, however, that President Eisenhower initialed nine secret memos spelling out general policy agreements.

Some memos actually were nothing but agreements to disagree. For example, the British expressed their determination to increase trade with Communist China, despite American objection. On the other hand, the United States vetoed a British request to lift our blockade of the Chinese port of Amoy opposite Formosa, so the British could trade.

Other memos dealt with the Middle East, guided missiles, atomic tests, British arms reductions, and German reunification.

Most interesting fact about the memos was that the British demanded they be written and initialed because they recalled how other agreements had been forgotten about or denied by Dulles.

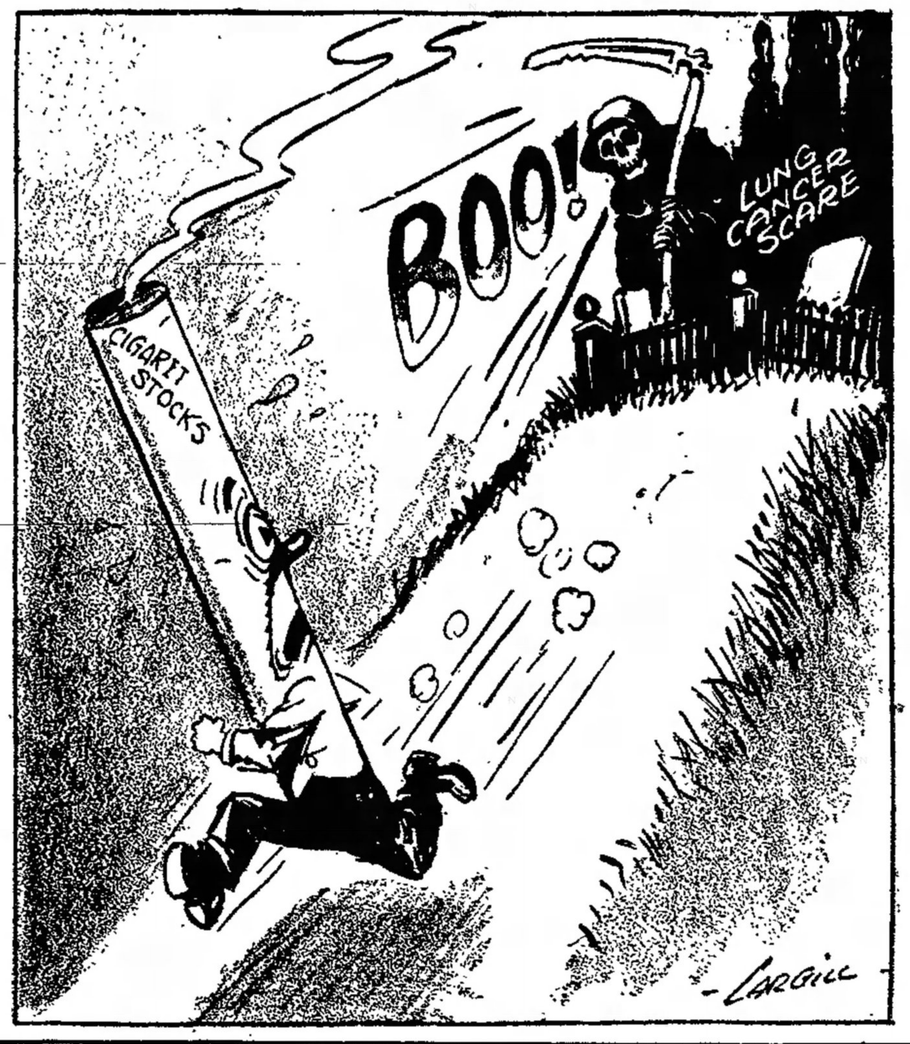
They also remembered how Mrs. Meir, the Israeli foreign minister, had submitted her U. N. speech to Dulles in advance and received his complete O.K., only to have him renege on certain parts of it later. They also remembered how Eisenhower had sent a personal letter to Premier Ben-Gurion reassuring him on the terms of withdrawal from Gaza.

So at Bermuda the British requested that Eisenhower read the memos personally and sign them. At first, this was refused. However, when the British insisted, Ike finally initialed, but did not sign the memos. Prime Minister Macmillan also initialed them.

Washington Pipeline

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is investigating charges that Dr. Ralph Bunche, American U. N. official, encouraged Egyptian Dictator Nasser to seize control of the Gaza Strip. Senators have received reports that Bunche was charmed by the Egyptian dictator and agreed to turn U. N. control of Gaza back to Egypt. The original plan had been to let the U. N. administer the area until the crisis blew over. But Bunche's visit with Nasser seemed to encourage the dictator to move right in

Tobacco Road



Today and Tomorrow—

The President and the Budget

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In talking about the budget at his press conference last week, the President extricated himself from the untenable position he had taken before. Then he was saying, so Congress and the rest of us had supposed, that the budget was too high, that he would like to see it reduced but that since only Congress could reduce it, it was their responsibility, not his, to revise the budget.

Mr. Lippmann

This general understanding of what he believed was, of course, heavily influenced by the famous press conference in which Secretary Humphrey had spoken so harshly of the President's budget.

After several wekks of confusion, the President has changed his position, and he has now made himself the defender and the advocate of his own budget. Whatever one may think of the budget, this is a sounder attiude, both legally and morally, than his earlier one.

Has Responsibility

Under existing law the President is obligated to present a budget which he believes in and is prepared to justify and defend. The law (Title I, Chapter 31 of the United States Code) says that "the President shall transmit . . . to Congress the budget which sets forth . . . estimated expenditures and proposed appropriations necessary in his judgment for the support of the government." Until last week's press conference, what we had instead was a budget which the Secretary of the Treasury said was too high, which the President said could be reduced if the Congress would repeal or would amend some of the great spending programs which Congress — and apparently Congress alone — had enacted.

In order to justify this alarming abdication of the executive authority, the President pictured himself as a humble servant of Congress whose orders he is carrying out. "We have worked many months on the development of the budget," he said on March 13, "and each item in there has been developed with the idea of performing to the very best of our ability the responsibilities laid on the Executive Department by Congress for carrying out its mandates." Congress, he asserted, has ordered a number of "great programs" which cost money, and there cannot by "any great cuts in the budget" until and unless Congress votes for "the cutting out or the elimination or slowing up, at least, of some of these great programs."

Strange Picture

This was a strange picture of how the government happens to be engaged in the "great programs" that cost so much money. Are they really the work of Congress alone, initiated in Congress, developed in Congress, with the President waiting hat in hand at the door of Congress for his orders? Anyone who thought this was a true and candid picture of the origin and character of the great spending programs has only to recall the President's messages to Congress, the platform on which he ran for President, the proud campaign speeches he made about the record of his administration.

The President's first position on the budget was untenable, as the reaction in Congress and in the country made quite evident. Last week, in a not-very-happy mood, he made himself the champion of his own budget.

The country, or at least a large and vocal part of it, is startled by the size of the budget. Is the size of it really startling? It is startling, but only when it is measured by the campaign promises of 1952, especially the promises made by General Eisenhower after his famous covenant on Morningside Heights with Senator Taft. But measured by the campaign promises of 1956, when the President adopted the philosophy of the new Republicanism, the President is entitled to say, as he is now saying, that his budget proposes to carry out conservatively what the voters have been promised.

The crux of the matter is that between 1952 and 1956 the President committed himself to the "great programs" which cost so much. At the same time he was compelled because of the state of the cold war to have a great program of military defense.

Counted on Peace

When General Eisenhower ran for office in 1952, he felt able to offer big promises of reduced expenditures because he made two assumptions. One assumption was that he could end the war in Korea, and that this would be followed by a peace which permitted important reductions in the military spending. His other assumption was that he could stop the expansion of, and even cut back considerably, the grants and subsidies of the welfare programs.

The basic difference between the orthodox Republicans and the Eisenhower or new Republicans is over these two assumptions. The orthodox Republicans still believe in these two assumptions whereas the President does not.

Thus the orthodox believe that much money can be saved, especially out of what now goes to foreign aid, by a more isolationist foreign policy. The President, on the other hand, believes in collective security, which cannot be made to work without subsidies to foreign countries.

Want Welfare Cut

The orthodox believe also that the welfare measures can be reduced, and that a lot of money can thus be saved. The President and the new Republicans have become convinced that the party cannot win elections unless it is able to attract those large blocs of voters who had become an invincible coalition under Franklin Roosevelt.

The President's budget is not a series of great programs commanded by Congress. The budget is the new Republicanism, in this time of unabated cold war, when translated into dollars. It is what it is because of decisions made deliberately by President Eisenhower himself, and the Congress has been well justified in insisting that he take the responsibility, be it to defend the budget or to say where it should be reduced.

Pro-Red Elements in Syria, Jordan Set Back

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The pro - Communist elements which have been bidding for domination in Syria and Jordan appear to have suffered a setback.

Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj in Syria and Premier Suleiman Nabulsi in Jordan are being challenged by conservative leaders.

Mr. McCann

In both countries, the situation still is confused. But there seems no doubt that for the moment at least pro - Western sentiment is strengthening.

For several months, Syria has been the most pro-Communist of the nine Arab countries. Serraj, chief of Syria's military intelligence department, has been regarded as a potential dictator.

Nabulsi also has pursued an increasingly pro - Communist and hence anti-Western policy. He is trying to set himself up as his country's strong man and to weaken anti-Communist King Hussein.

Syria Trying Ouster

Now President Shukri Al - Kuwatly of Syria has taken the nominal leadership of conservative elements who are trying to oust Serraj and if possible to compel him to take a post as military attache or some similar post in a foreign country.

But the actual challenge to Serraj comes from conservatives in the army. They are showing unexpected strength.

In Jordan, young King Hussein is leading the opposition to Nabulsi. He, too, has the support of army conservatives as well as of conservative politicians.

The Eisenhower Doctrine seems to have had a good deal to do with the altered situation in both Syria and Jordan.

And King Saud of Saudi Arabia also appears to be playing an important part.

Lost No Time

There seems every reason to believe that Saud went home from his recent visit to President Eisenhower with a most favorable view of the Eisenhower Doctrine. It also is indicated that he lost no time in giving his view to leaders of other Arab countries.

It also is possible that the recent decision of the United States to join the military committee of the Baghdad Pact has played a part in checking the pro-Communist trend in Syria and Jordan.

Both the Baghdad Pact and the Eisenhower Doctrine are aimed against Communist penetration, by subversion or aggression, in the Middle East.

It may take some time for the situations in Syria and Jordan to solidify. But it could well be that what threatened to be a dangerous pro-Communist trend will be stopped.

National Affairs—

Knowland Asks New Foreign Policy Debate

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland thinks it's about time for another "great debate" on foreign policy.

So far, the issue which is bothering him has not aroused any fervor for debate on either side of the political aisle by men of comparable stature. But it could come when Congress considers the administration's foreign aid program and perhaps when the Senate reviews the treaty to put the United States in an international atoms-for-peace agency.

Mr. Lahr

Knowland is troubled because he believes the administration is moving toward a "Communist Marshall Plan," a program of aid for the Russian satellites of Eastern Europe.

Against Polish Aid

Since early winter he has been sounding alarms on this subject. More recently and more specifically, he has protested against offers of aid to Poland in negotiations last month.

He also dissented from the administration on one provision of a bill passed by the Senate this week. The provision would permit the administration to barter surplus farm products to Iron Curtain countries for strategic materials.

Knowland said the Communist countries could buy agricultural products from the United States with dollars, if they wished, thereby reducing the dollars available to international Communism for subversive action against this nation.

Senate Votes Favorably

The Senate voted against Knowland on this issue, 54-23. GOP Senators split almost down the middle with 21 supporting his amendment and 19 opposing it.

The California senator, who often has foreign policy disputes with the administration, argues that any help to the satellites gives at least indirect help to Russia. He also has suggested that any such help would mean either enlarging the overall foreign aid program or subtracting from the aid given to U.S. allies and neutrals.

The other side of the argument is that any moves to provide aid for the Soviet satellites would be intended to encourage their independence from Russia — an argument Knowland will not buy.

At the White House—

Wrong Numbers

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House —

While President Eisenhower was in Bermuda recently, one of his most private telephones almost rang off the White House wall and the calls weren't for the President.

The mixup occurred because one of Washington's newspapers ran an ad for a dog show seeking helpers to handle the canines. The ad contained a telephone number which purported to be the dog show's but which, because of a typographical error, actually was the highly secret White House number. After many wrong calls, the Secret Service stepped in and had the White House number changed.

The President plans to spend part of the late summer in Colorado. This was where he suffered his 1955 heart attack, but his doctors now say that the mile - high altitude of Denver should pose no problem for the Chief Executive.

When Mr. Eisenhower was in Bermuda, he was thinking of his grandchildren. The British shops abounded in small metal soldiers, and the President, unable to leave his headquarters at the Midocean Club, commissioned a staff assistant to do his purchasing for the children.

But instead of giving his set of handsome lead soldiers to his grandchildren, the President decided to hold the statuettes for some later purpose.

As a result, when the cabinet meets these days, the lead soldiers, representing a broad span of American military service, stand on the broad cabinet table.

During the furore about the President's speedy auto trip to Gettysburg last weekend, White House reporters got a number of telephone calls from householders along the Rockville, Md., Pike, saying they were glad that someone had brought the President's speeding to public attention.

Most of the callers refused to give their names on the theory that they did not want trouble with the government. The truth is that they would have had no trouble.

The county police outside Rockville who elected to cut out the press cars trailing the President to Gettysburg at a high rate of speed probably wish today that they had never spotted the press cars.

As one of the officers said later "I never would have believed that one small whistle to a car full of reporters would have ended up with me in a lot of newspaper editorial columns."

In early Christian Britain and northern Europe, it was the custom to bury the dead with the heads pointing west.

Foreign Entries Look Strong in 'Masters'

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — The Masters Golf Tournament since its inception has been the private putting party of a storied few but as it got underway at Augusta today they were keeping a wary eye on the foreign entrants.

This is a tournament which always has been the personal property of the recognized masters of the fairway. When Claude Harmon won it in 1948 he was the only "club pro" ever to crack through.

The situation remains the same in essence but the "name" hopefuls had better keep one eye cocked on the visitors from abroad this time around.

Almost By Default

Youngsters never have been able to crack through in this one. The reasons are many but one of the best is the strange reverence for the Masters. Ken Venturi had it locked up last year and wilted on the final round. The answer is that this is a tournament everybody loses and one man wins almost by default.

Even the tournament tested breed admit that, coming up to the final round, they get the shakes. This is Bobby Jones' brain child and they play it in his back yard, often under his watchful eye. His personality permeates the whole layout. To a native American that's a challenge to meet golf's acid test.

Which provides the basis for one reason why the foreign floggers of the little white ball pose such a threat. Jones to them is not a national institution. A great name in golf, yes, but not an awesome obstacle.

Play With Best

The have a tremendous crew on hand to try it in the Masters Gar Player and Trevor Wilkes of South Africa, Stan Leonard and Al Balding of Canada, Roberto di Vicenzo, the Argentinian playing out of Mexico; three-time British Open king Peter Thomson and Bruce Crampton of Australia, and Britain's Henry Cotton and Harry Sweetman.

Now that they figure they can match the Yanks at best, don't be too surprised if one of them cracks through.

Memphis End Inks Grid Contract

WASHINGTON (UP)—Will Renfrow, former Memphis State College end now in the Army, has signed a professional contract with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League. Renfrow expects to be discharged from the service in a month.

Stengel Raves Over KC Rookie

FORT MYERS, Fla., April 4 (UP) — Button - hole Casey Stengel some time and ask him point blank who is the greatest natural looking hitter he has ever seen.

Think you know the answer? Here are a couple of hints—it is not either Mickey Mantle or Joe DiMaggio.

"The greatest natural looking hitter I've ever seen," says the Yankee manager, without batting an eye, "is Lou Skizas."

Skizas, an eccentric dark-haired Greek, currently is patrolling the outfield for the Kansas City Athletics and it is rather significant that Lou Boudreau concurs with Stengel in his opinion.

"I can readily understand why Casey would say that," declares Boudreau. "If there's anything in this world Skizas can do, it's hit."

Always Over .300

Take a look at some of Skizas' credentials. Playing the outfield for Norfolk in the Piedmont League in 1951, he hit .311 before being tapped by Uncle Sam for military service. When he came out he spent part of the season with Birmingham of the Southern Association, where he batted .305 and part with Kansas City, then in the American Association, where he hit .320.

With Denver in 1955, he carved out a cool .348 figure. Last year he started out with the Yankees, was dealt to Kansas City June 14 and finished with a .314 average in 89 games.

If the 25-year-old Skizas is such a hot-shot with the bat, how come the Yankees let him get away, you ask? Well, there's the rub.

Hit Any Pitcher

"He can hit any pitcher who ever lived." Casey claims, "but when he gets out there in the outfield. . ."

Stengel doesn't finish but it is no secret that the chunky Skizas isn't pushing Tris Speaker for defensive laurels.

"We heard that Skizas was supposed to be a 'butcher' in the field," Boudreau says, "but I certainly can't complain about the job he has done for us out there. He dropped only one ball out there in the field last year."

Boudreau, however, hastily knocked on wood and added, "I hope I'm not talking too quickly".

Champs Favored In AAU Swims

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UP) —Defending champions Frank McKinney and Tim Jecko were heavily favored in two of the four events scheduled today in the National AAU swimming championships which already have produced one new American record.

Defending champ George Breen of the Buffalo, N.Y., Athletic Swim Club opened the tournament Wednesday by winning the 1,500 meter title again in 17 minutes, 34 seconds flat. That set a new American record, but it cannot be recognized as a new mark because international records provide records for distance of 500 meters or longer must be set on a "long course." The 25-yard Welch Pool here is a "short course."

Scheduled today are the one meter dive and three swimming events — 100 yard freestyle, 220 yard backstroke, and 400 yard individual medley.

Virgil Trucks Plans to Retire

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP)—Virgil Trucks, one of three major league pitchers who hurled two no-hitters in one season, has decided to call it a career at the end of the 1957 campaign.

The 37-year old right-hander of the Kansas City Athletics said Wednesday he made the decision "before Lou Boudreau announced I wasn't included in his plans as a starter this season," and added, "There comes a time when you have to think of the future and I feel this is the time for me."

Trucks has a 15-yeard record of 166 victories and 126 losses.

NEW MHS TENNIS COACH — Here's Miss Antoinette Valentine, a physical education teacher at Monessen High who is to be named varsity tennis coach at the regular school board meeting next Tuesday. Miss Valentine is believed to be the only feminine coach in the WPIAL at the moment. She will have all of last year's Greyhound tennis team returning for the 1957 season.

Record Field Tees Off in Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—A record field of 102 opened the 21st Masters golf tournament under a hot sky today with a chance of rain and a chance that an amateur could win it to fulfill the dream of Bobby Jones.

Jones, who retired undefeated as an amateur king after winning the big four of world tournaments in 1930, founded the Masters tournament shortly thereafter.

No amateur has won a big one since then, save Johnny Goodman's victory in the 1933 U.S. Open. But in the Masters, they have come close twice in the last three years and today the name on the tip of almost everyone's tongue was Harvie Ward.

Ward has proved his consistency by winning the U.S. amateur the last two years, the first repeater in that unpredictable event since Lawson Little in 1934-35. He also has had 69's the last two days in practice on the Augusta National Course.

These performances caused the experts to evaluate the Masters a possibility for an amateur coup. They also remember that Billy Joe Patton in 1954 and Ken Venturi a year ago had it in their pockets except for the last nine holes.

Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, the perennial Masters favorites, are here, too, and both have been shooting par or just a little over during the last few days.

Snead has been playing like Snead, hitting the greens but missing his short putts; Hogan has been playing the course like the scholar he is and predicts the hottest putter will win.

This famous twosome fought it out in a playoff, with Snead winning, three years ago after the amateur wonder, Patton, cast caution to the breezes with only a half-dozen holes to go.

Every past Masters champion is here for the event with one exception — Ralph Guhldahl, who won in 1939 with a 279 record that stood until Hogan came in with 274 in 1953.

The entry list also includes all past National Amateur and Open champions and a select group of other qualifiers.

Brtko, Amos Set For Arnold Bout

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Heavyweights Emil Brtko of Pittsburgh and Bob Amos of Dayton, Ohio, have been signed for a six-round preliminary bout at Arnold High School Saturday night, promoter Ben Anolik announced Tuesday.

The bout will be part of a card featuring a 10-rounder between heavyweights Garvin Sawyer and Bert Whitehurst.

Brtko decisioned Dave Rent, young British heavyweight hope, in his last fight.

Tulsa YMCA Sets Pace in AAU Wrestling

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—Tulsa YMCA, sporting collegiate and national amateur champions, grabbed a toehold lead on unofficial team honors today in the AAU wrestling championships.

Paced by two-time Olympic squad member Tommy Evans, who won his opening two bouts with pins in slightly more than seven minutes, the Oklahomans registered 10 triumphs against four losses and suffered only one casualty under the point elimination system in the first two rounds.

But the Tulsans faced strong opposition from touring champions from Japan, who also lost only one entry while scoring 10 triumphs and losing five contests.

Evans, defending AAU 147½ pound champion, registered the fastest triumph in first-round action by pinning Larry Wright of Oregon State in 37 seconds with a rolling fall. Evans took 6:33 of the allotted time to pin Chesapeake AC's Sherman Vandevander in the second round with a body press.

Twenty-three grapplers from the original field of almost 200 were dropped after two defeats.

Pennsylvania and West Virginia each had two grapplers still in the running. Pennsylvania counted three eliminations and West Virginia one.

Ed Gazvoda of Cecil, Pa., was pinned in seven minutes with a rolling fall by Don Thompson, Multnomah AC, Portland, Ore., in their opening 160½-pound match but Gazvoda came back in the second round to pin Tom Guidi of Morgantown, W. Va., in 4:10. The defeat was the second for Guidi and knocked him from competition.

MHS Tennis Team in New Valley Section

Greyhounds Also Have New Coach; She's Miss Antoinette Valentine!

Monessen High's tennis team found itself in a new section with a new coach today.

The Greyhound netters will compete in newly-formed Section 4, which will also include three other valley schools, Monongahela, Charleroi and California.

The new MHS coach will be pretty Miss Antoniette Valentine. She is believed to be the only feminine coach in the WPIAL

Miss Valentine, whose brother Sam won All-American football honors at Penn State last season, is a talented tennis player herself. She conducted net classes last summer at Ninth Street Park.

Miss Valentine succeeds Frank Janosik and Armand Niccolai who directed the Greyhound netters on a "voluntary" basis last year to get the sport started here.

To Be Official Tues

Actually Miss Valentine will be officially named tennis coach next Tuesday at a School Board meeting. However she has been recommended by the Athletic Council, which practically insures her job.

There will be no shortage of tennis talent at Monessen this year. The entire 1956 squad is back.

A year ago the Hounds won only two of six matches against tough competition. Significantly, though, Janosik and Niccolai played only sophomores to build for the future.

Now the sophs have grown into mature performers.

The top two boys in the Monessen cast are Joe Kurey and Jim Baker.

Kurey Good

Kurey dominated the junior tennis scene in Monessen last season. He is also a fine basketballer.

Baker has come along fast and is currently a member of the Pittsburgh city squash team. He and Kurey, both juniors, give the Greyhounds a fine one-two punch.

Also returning from last year's club are capable swingers like Dennis D'Alessio, Ronald D'Angelo and George Katsuleris.

The regular 1957 net season will open on April 25 and close on May 13. All MHS home matches will be played at City Park.

In all, the WPIAL tennis program will include four sections. The other groups are:

Section 1 — Crafton, Edgewood, Mt. Lebanon and Wilkinsburg.

Section 2 — New Castle, New Kensington, Tarentum, and North Allegheny.

Section 3 — Connellsville, Irwin, Latrobe and North Huntingdon.

Section 4 Schedule

Here is the complete Section 4 schedule:

April 25 — Monessen at Monongahela; California at Charleroi.

April 29 — Charleroi at Monessen; Monongahela at California.

May 2 — California at Monessen; Charleroi at Monongahela.

May 6 — Charleroi at California; Monongahela at Monessen.

May 9 — Monessen at Charleroi; California at Monongahela.

May 13 — Monessen at California; Monongahela at Charleroi.

Charleroi, Monongahela and California will sponsor their first tennis teams since the early forties. This will be Monessen's second year in the sport.

It would seem then that the section will be fairly well balanced. If there is any edge, it probably belongs to the Greyhounds.

Valley Baseball League Meets Here Tonight

The annual reorganization meeting of the Mon Valley Baseball League will be held tonight at the Monessen Sport Shop beginning at 8 p. m.

Peter (Bud) Roman has extended an invitation to all teams interested in joining the league.

Last year, the circuit opened with ten clubs. No one expects that many to report tonight.

There have been rumors that both Monessen CIO and Finleyville may give up their franchises.

Three teams have indicated that they will definitely be back: Charleroi, Donora and Fayette City. Moreover it's pretty certain that Monessen will have at least one team in the circuit.

New Eagle has been a valley contender for years and wants to come back. The decision there hinges on rumors that the team may lose its field if a new U. S. Steel Co. coal mine in the district materializes.

Doubtful Entries

Perryopolis, Van Voorhis and Valley Inn have not indicated whether they intend to enter teams, but chances are they will.

One of the main items of business tonight will be the election of a commissioner. George Kuvinka, who has capably directed the league for the past several seasons, resigned following last season. There are reports now that he may be persuaded back into the job.

Roman said that the league hopes to organize as quickly as possible. Ordinarily the MVL season begins the last week in April or the first week in May.

Canadiens, Bruins Seek Victories

By UNITED PRESS

The Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Bruins — each holding a 3-1 lead in the National Hockey League playoffs — will be seeking "big" victories tonight that would provide them with a short cut into the championship round.

The defending champion Canadiens play the downhearted New York Rangers at Montreal, while the Bruins skate against the pennant-winning Detroit Red Wings at Detroit.

Montreal split its first two games with the Rangers at New York, then copped the next two at home. Another victory tonight will enable the Canadiens to clinch the best of seven semi-final series and earn them a berth in the Stanley Cup final for the eighth straight year.

Detroit has played Montreal for the title the last three years but now is faced with the task of winning its next three games with Boston to earn another crack at the Candiens. After splitting their first two games with the Bruins at Detroit, the Red Wings suffered two shocking defeats at Boston.

Monongahela Wins In Soccer, 1 to 0

A successful foul kick by Fred Cox gave Monongahela High a 1-0 soccer win over Bridgeville in WPIAL action yesterday at the losers field.

The win was the second straight for the Wildcats.

Cox made his game-winning goal on a 25-yard boot in the third period. The game was played on a very muddy field.

Ozarks Issue Call for Players For '57 Campaign

The Monessen Ozarks today issued a call for baseball players.

Said manager Tony Mascetta: "We'd like everyone interested in playing for the Ozarks to contact either me at MU 4-7254 or Bill Fuoco at MU 4-9993. Before reclaiming our franchise in the Mon Valley League we want to be absolutely certain that there is enough interest in our team."

A year ago, the Ozarks started MVL action but had to drop out midway through the season when Mascetta found it almost impossible to field a team.

"We want to avoid a repetition of last season," said Mascetta. "If we find enough players who promise to stick out the season, then the Ozarks will probably have another team. If not, we won't. It's that simple."

Junior Volleyball Tournament at Braddock Today

Junior High volleyball teams from Monessen and Rostraver were scheduled to take part in today's Junior WPIAL Tournament at Braddock.

Neither club was expected to stick around long.

The Little Leps, coached by Ed Hogan, were to meet defending champion Munhall in a first round game.

Monessen, having drawn a first round bye, will square off against the Park Terrace-Clairton Walnut winner.

Other first round games today paired Swissvale against New Kensington Fourth; North Hills against Wilmerding, Braddock against Carroll Twp.; New Kensington Stewart against Charleroi; Blawnox against Homestead and Youngwood against Duquesne.

Other Byes

Drawing first round byes in addition to Monessen were Greensburg, Calhoun, Turtle Creek, Clairton Fifth and O'Hara Twp.

The Monessen squad includes these boys: John Dankowski, Richard Behrendt, Leonard Williams, Eugene Czelen, Jerry Krause, Harry Pore, III, Garry Kossar, Ermand DiBartolomeo, James Seamon and Bill Dawson.

John (Corky) DeMillion, who coached the Monessen varsity as far as the finals of the recent WPIAL tournament, will also direct the Juniors.

Making up the Rostraver squad will be Charles Ahlborn, Chuck Zolak, Ken Roberts, Willie Ross, Joe Pollins, Tom Hudock, and Jack Pierce.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff

Middlecoff Golf Column Will Be Back April 15

"Doctoring Your Golf" — a daily column authored by National Open champion Dr. Cary Middlecoff will return to the Daily Independent sports pages on April 15.

The popular column was introduced to Daily Independent readers during the 1956 golf "season." The response was so favorable that Middlecoff will be back to offer tips to district golfers.

As a dentist turned golfer, the handsome Middlecoff has extracted a sizable chunk of gold from the professional gold circuit during his brilliant nine year career.

Cary hit the pro circuit in 1947. By the end of 1949 he had captured the top prize in the golf world — the National Open crown. He also won that event last season.

Money-Winner

Middlecoff has finished sixth or better among the money winners in every season since 1949. He has captured just about every major tournament prize during his busy career.

Thus Middlecoff qualifies as one of the nation's foremost authorities on the game.

Middlecoff's columns are designed for both the experienced golfer and beginner. Each day he'll offer tips which should prove valuable to every reader.

To Decide on Florida Track Owner Today

MIAMI (UP)— The Florida Racing Commission will announce today whether it will take away the license of Saul Silberman, the peppery president of Tropical Park who bet "on credit" to the tune of $20,000 a day to boost his own racetrack.

The commission may let Silberman, known as "Bet-A-Million Saul," off with a severe reprimand, but there was no indication of what the decision wold be.

Silberman is accused of permitting his public relations man, Maurice Hirshstein, to make more than 100 telephone calls from the track president's private office to northern cities during Tropical's 43-day winter racing season.

He also is accused of associating with criminals. The Racing Commission brought out during three days of hearings some five weeks ago that most of Hirshstein's calls went to Phillip Gerson of Cleveland, twice convicted of bookmaking charges.

Rain Wipes out Baseball Again

It Looks Now as Though There Will Be No Exhibition Tussles

It seems that the 1957 exhibition baseball season will be entered on a blank page of the record book.

Rain washed out a busy schedule this afternoon and practically assured NO warm-up games prior to the start of the WPIAL campaign next Monday.

Inclement weather has erased every exhibition game the past two weeks. And it doesn't seem probable that any will be played tomorrow either.

Thus 1957 will go down as the year in which every exhibition game was wiped out by the weather man.

At Monessen, athletic director Everett Pancook said today's game with West Newton has been postponed. He saw little hope of Ninth Street drying by tomorrow for a replay then.

At Bellmar, yesterday's game with Hempfield and today's battle with South Huntingdon were both called off. Ditto for all other scheduled contests today.

Season Starts Monday

That means there will probably be no baseball now until the WPIAL campaign begins officially next Monday.

Opening Section 17 tussles will show Bellmar at Monessen, Charleroi at California and Monongahela at Donora.

Besides wiping out exhibition games, the weather has practically stalled all baseball training. Most teams will begin league competition with little or no practice.

All of which promises to make the upcoming campaign interesting if not entirely artistic.

Rochester Skaters Live Up to Boast

By UNITED PRESS

Wing Ed Mazur of the surprising Rochester Americans, once bragged "our rent's paid up until April 20, and we don't expect to leave town until then, as champions," and folks now are starting to believe him.

Rochester's 4-2 triumph over the Providence Reds Wednesday night propelled the fourth place team into the finals of the American Hockey League playoffs against the winner of the tied-up Cleveland-Hershey semi-final set.

Rochester entered the playoffs a decided underdog against Providence, regular season champion and defending Calder Cup holder. But the ease with which the AHL's freshman entry, disposed of Providence, winning four of five games, makes it a strong favorite for championship laurels.

Bronco Horvath, Ab McDonald, Earl Balfour and Paul Masnick scored for the winners, while Bruce Cline and Jim Bartlett got the Providence goals.

The Cleveland-Hershey semi-final series, deadlocked 2-2, resumes at Cleveland tonight.

Williams College AD Is Dead

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (UP)—Albert Osterhout, who served as graduate manager of athletics at Williams College for 20 years, died Wednesday in a local hospital. He was 74.

Monessen Fifth Clinches First In Valley Loop

Monessen Fifth Avenue has assured first place in the final standings of the Mon Valley Ladies Bowling League.

The city girls sewed up the top spot by winning two of three games from Scottdale last weekend. That decision kept them nine games in front of the race with just two more matches to play.

Thus the defending champion Monessen team will draw a seeded position in the annual playoffs.

Lucy Faltz rolled a 213-511 score to pace Monessen against Scottdale. For the losers, Gwen Clark had a 149-424.

In other matches over the weekend, Uniontown won a pair from Monongahela, Fredericktown topped Charleroi, Vestaburg bested Bentleyville twice and Belle Vernon took two from Donora.

Top Scorers

Top scorers in those matches were Helen Koch, 180-455 (Monongahela); Francy Fortune, 213-516 (Uniontown; Doris Fisher, 158-455 (Charleroi); Midge Bailey, 156-449 (Fredericktown); Ann Hausher, 149-393 (Vestaburg); Mary Fefolt (Bentleyville); Ida Picchiarini, 155-421 (Belle Vernon); Helen Paro, 194-470 (Donora).

Standings show Monessen, 73-17; Uniontown, 64-26; Donora, 59-31; Fredericktown, 53-37; Uniontown, 64-26; Donora, 59-31; Fredericktown, 53-37; Charleroi, 50-40; Monongahela, 49-41; Bentleyville, 46-44; Connellsville, 43-47; Belle Vernon, 38-52; Scottdale, 32-59; Vestaburg, 26-64.

Zulueta Barely Defeats Lopes

WASHINGTON (UP) — Cuban lightweight contender Orlando Zulueta today has his eye on just one opponent — 135-pound champion Joe Brown.

Asked about future plans after Zulueta won a split decision over Joey Lopes in Wednesday night's nationally-televised bout, the Cuban's manager, Hymie Wollman, said "I don't think we'll take nothing unless it's the champ."

Zulueta, ranked fifth among lightweights by the National Boxing Assn, was booed after the fight. Lopes is an unranked boxer from Sacramento, Calif., who hoped to crack the ratings with an upset in the nationally-televised bout.

Under Washington's scoring system, Referee Harry Volman gave it to Zulueta, 99-93. Judge Ben Alperstein scored the fight 96-95 for Zulueta. The other judge, Charlie Buck, gave it to Lopes, 97-94.

Zulueta, 8-5 favorite, dropped to one knee after Lopes scored a hard right to the ribs in the first round. Later Wollman said it was a slip. There was no count.

Schmidt, Giant Catcher, Hurt

SALT LAKE CITY, April 4 (UP — The New York Giants today sent for Minneapolis catcher Valmy Thomas, 24, to fill in for the injured Bob Schmidt, who will be out 10 days with a torn ligament in his right shoulder. He was hurt in Las Vegas Tuesday.

Thomas hit 380 for Albuquerque last season. He also played winter league ball with Santurce in the Puerto Rican League.

Badger Gridders Sign with Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis., April 4 (UP) — Fullback Glenn Bestor and tackle Martin Booher, former University of Wisconsin football players, have signed their 1957 contracts with the Green Bay Packers.

Jimmy Baker

Baker to Take Part in Junior Squash Tourney

Jimmy Baker, a junior at Monessen High, will compete in the National Squash Tournament which begins tomorrow in Pittsburgh.

Baker, who already boasts quite a sports reputation, will compete as a member of the Pittsburgh Junior Squash team.

Matches in the weekend tourney will be held in the University of Pittsburgh Field House, Pittsburgh Gold Club and the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

No less than 41 players from all over the nation and Canada will take part.

The tourney will require all of Friday, Saturday and Sunday to decide.

Rapid Progress

Baker, a standout member of the MHS tennis team, adopted squash last season. His progress was so rapid that he made the Pittsburgh city team for tournament matches in the east.

Young Jimmy is no newcomer to the sports pages. He first attracted attention as a brilliant Midget League football player. He also won two successive city marble titles, the only youngster to hold that distinction.

Feller Picks Yanks, Braves to Win Pennants

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP)—Bobby Feller thinks his old Cleveland Indian teammates will finish second or third this season despite brilliant pitching by Herb Score and Bob Lemon — and that the Yankees will meet Milwaukee in the World Series.

Feller, now retired, made the predictions Tuesday on a visit here to promote a baseball youth program.

"Score should win more than 20 games and I think you could say he is worth the million dollars Boston offered for him," said Feller. "I presume Score will make $500,000 for himself and another 5 million dollars for his club in baseball. And I guess that makes a man worth a million."

But, although he sees Cleveland finishing in the "top three," Feller thinks the Yankees will win the American League pennant "unless Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra get caught on a clothesline."

As for himself, Feller, now in the insurance business, said, "I want to go back into the game as an owner or part owner."

Italian Holds European Title

MILAN, Italy (UP)—Duilio Loi of Italy, the European lightweight champion, scored a technical knockout over Karl Heinz Bick of Germany in the 10th and final round of a non-title bout Wednesday night. Loi weighed 138½ pounds; Bick, 138¼.

New Record at Lincoln Downs

LINCOLN, R.I. (UP)—Carrara Lamar, a two-year-old colt, established a new track record in winning the feature race at Lincoln Downs Wednesday. The colt was clocked in 47 4-5 seconds for four furlongs.

Indians May Have Uncovered Scoring Punch in Spring Drills

By UNITED PRESS

Manager Kerby Farrell is beaming for the first time this spring today because the Cleveland Indians finally are "getting the runs" which he says they need to make a strong bid for the American League pennant.

The Indians rolled to their sixth straight victory Wednesday when they pounded the New York Giants, 13-6, and now have averaged 9.3 runs a game for six contests.

The feature of the Tribe's latest batting splurge was a nine-run, seventh-inning rally climaxed by Rocky Colavito's two-run homer. Gene Woodling and Joe Altobelli also homered in a 12-hit attack that raised the Indians' spring record to 13 victories and nine defeats.

Landis Belts One

The Chicago White Sox celebrated their final appearance of the spring at their Tampa base by beating the New York Yankees, 8-4. Rookie Jim Landis paced the White Sox' 11-hit attack with his third homer of the spring and a single.

Harvey Haddix spun three-hit ball for five innings and knocked in all his team's runs with a bases-loaded double as the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Boston Red Sox, 3-1.

The Detroit Tigers scored three runs in the 10th inning to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-5, despite the fact that Stan Musial raised his spring average to .469 with a homer and a single. Earl Torgeson's triple, three singles and a passed ball by Hobie Landrith enabled the Tigers to score their three tallies in the 10th.

Homers Beat Redlegs

The Pittsburgh Pirates ended a run of 27 1-3 scoreless innings against Kansas City pitching when they scored in the seventh inning and went on to defeat the Athletics, 2-0. Frank Thomas singled home the run that broke the scoreless duel and Johnny Powers homered in the ninth for the Pirates' other run. Bob Kuzava and rookies Don Kildoo and Clarence Church hurled the shutout for the Bucs.

Roy Sievers, Jim Lemon and Clint Courtney homered off Warren Hacker in the fourth inning to spark the Washington Senators to a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. Wally Post homered for the Redlegs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves played to a 10-inning, 2-2 tie in the other game. Bobby Thomson and Johnny Logan homered off Don Newcombe to produce the Braves' runs while Big Newk walloped a homer for the National League champions.

Orioles Hope Only to Reach Fifth Place

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UP)—The Baltimore Orioles expect to move up one more rung on the American League ladder to fifth place this year—right on schedule.

"We were seventh in 1955, sixth in 1956 and we don't find it farfetched to believe we'll go into fifth this year," said Manager Paul Richards. Then he added, "We might even surprise a few by going a notch higher."

One run a year is the long-range plan of the jut-jawed manager-general manager, but he believes he has the pitching to make the first division immediately if only his hitters would perk up.

"I think we can count on an improvement there," said Paul. "Bob Nieman and Gus Triandos have been hitting the ball well this spring and we have hopes for some of the others."

Teammates On Base

Both believe they can produce 100 RBIs this year if their teammates can get on base more often.

Those mates include an infield of Bob Boyd at first base, Billy Gardner at second, Willie Miranda at shortstop and George Kell at third base.

This is subject to platooning particularly against left-handed pitching, for Richards has a highly regarded rookie third baseman in 19-year-old Brooks Robinson, who'll get considerable work possibly with Kell probably switching to first base.

Except for Nieman, the outfield is somewhat unsettled. Al Pilarcik, a .251 hitter at Kansas City last year, may be the regular in center with Dick Williams, .286 last year, or Carl Powis, .330 at San Antonio, in right. Others bidding for outfield duty include Tito Francona and Jim Pyburn.

High On Pitching

Richards is high on his pitching. None won big last year but he had no disastrous losers, either.

Back from last season are Ray Moore, a right hander with a 12-7 record last year; Connie Johnson (9-11), Charlie Beamon, who won his first two starts in an impressive debut near the end of the 1956 season, Don Ferrarese (4-10), Bill Wight (9-12), Mike Fornieles (4-8), Hector (Skinny) Brown (9-7) and Erv Palica (4-11).

For relief, the Orioles count chiefly on George Zuverink (7-6), Sandy Consuegra (2-3) and, if he recovers from a chronic arm ailment, Billy Loes.

"This is an important year in our growth," said Richards. "We have a lot of new talent on the club and I'm sure we're right on schedule."

Yankees Keep Rookie Sensation

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP) —The New York Yankees retained rookie sensation Tony Kubek today when they optioned six players to minor league farm teams.

The Yankees' roster now numbers 29 players with Kubek, likely opening-day left-fielder, soon to be added.

Pirates Blank Kansas City by 2 to 0 Score

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, masters over the Kansas City Athletics for 28 innings, try to improve on the streak when the squads meet again today.

The Bucs shut out the A's 2-0 Wednesday behind the nine-hit pitching of Bob Kuzava and rookies Don Kildoo and Chuck Churn. On Monday, the Pirates and Kansas City battled to an 18-inning scoreless tie.

The Pirates, who hadn't scored a run against the A's in 27 1-3 innings, finally broke the spell. Frank Thomas drilled a single off righthander Tom Morgan in the seventh to send Lee Walls scampering home.

Johnny Powers added the final touch in the ninth with a home run off Eddie Blake.

After the game, the Pirates announced their first trade of the year. Utility infielder Dick Cole was sent to the Milwaukee Braves for infielder-outfielder Jim Pendleton.

Cole, 30, batted .212 in 72 games for the Pirates. Pendleton, 31, had a .289 average in 69 games with Wichita of the American Association.

NCAA Boxing Tourney Begins

POCATELLO, Idaho (UP)—The nations top college boers today opened the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. boing tournament here after an admonition they and their coaches must fight a "cult of softness" in their country.

Dr. Shane MacCarthy, director of President Eisenhower's Council on Youth Fitness delivered the admonition at the tournament's award dinner Wednesday night and expressed his disappointment that "at a national tournament there are only 13 schools represented."

The 13 colleges and universities represented in the NCAA tourney had 51 fighters entered.

Host Idaho State College, 1957 Pacific Coast champion team and undefeated in dual meets this season, had the largest contingent with a boxer in each of nine weight classes. The University of Nevada and San Jose State College each had six fighters in the bouts. Defending champion Wisconsin relied on five.

Sporstmen's Corner—

Game Protector Tells Of Unexpected Catch

Harry H. Ricket, veteran Game Protector in Berks County, tells of a peculiar wildlife experience as follows:

"In all the years I have trapped predators, small game, and waterfowl in the banding program, I have caught many an animal the trap was not intended to take. But on March 8th I hit the jackpot.

"Due to weather conditions that day I anticipated a large catch of ducks in the live trap used in our waterfowl banding operations on Game Propagation Area No. 26. So I took along Howard Hill, a Commission employee. As we approached the long, tube-shaped trap constructed of chicken wire, we saw five deer looking in the direction of the inclosure.

As we drew closer these deer left and we found out what they were watching. Instead of ducks a medium-size doe was in the trap. The animal gave us a real circus-like performance and all but wrecked the trap before we could drive it out through the gate.

Enter Funnel

"Investigating, we discovered that the deer had entered through one of three funnels, one end of which rested in the lake edge and acted as an entrance point for ducks on the lake. In its desire to get at the corn used as bait in the trap the deer had bone through a funnel, which is about two feet in height and eight inches wide, and flexible so ducks can spread it enough to gain entrance to the banding trap, after which it closes.

"Following the above episode ducks failed to use this portion of the lake for several days."

County Deer Kill—

A total of 812 antlered deer were taken in Westmoreland County during the 1956 season. Naturally enough, there was no bear kill in the county.

The State Game Commission reported that Pennsylvania sportsmen bagged 41,921 deer and 335 bears during the last big game season.

The highest deer kill was in Potter County where 2,078 of the animals were brought down. The 28 bears bagged in Pike County was high for the state.

The antlered deer kill included 224 legal bucks brought down in the special bow-and-arrow season.

Wants Red Caps—

Another bill has been introduced in the state legislature which would make it "unlawful for any person to hunt anywhere in this Commonwealth without wearing a bright red cap." The penalty is set at $25.

However the measure probably won't get far. There have been recent studies which claim brighted is not the best color for hunting safety because it blends with the foliage.

Instead a black and white checkered pattern was found most suitable.

RENAISSANCE ON RAILS

IF A quiz show contestant is ever asked "what is the most luxurious private Pullman car in the United States?" and "who are its owners?" the correct answers would be "The Virginia City" and Nevada publishers Charles Clegg and Lucius Beebe of Virginia City. Clegg and Beebe decked out their half-million-dollar Pullman car with a Venetian Renaissance decor. The 93-foot, 90-ton "palace" on wheels contains crystal chandeliers from Venice, diamond-paned mirrors, gold-plated lighting fixtures from France, gold-threaded rugs and ceiling murals copied from Rome's Sistine Chapel. There is a 23-foot observation room with a marble fireplace and three master bedrooms. Next is a dining room and a complete galley and wine cellar. Stateroom shelters crew of two, a chef and waiter. Car can be carried at the end of any regulation passenger train.

School Bill Is Nearing Final Step

WASHINGTON (UP)—A House Education subcommittee neared completion today of a compromise multi-billion dollar school construction program.

Details of the compromise were kept secret.

Three big decisions were involved:

—How much money to put into the program.

—How the money should be allotted among the states: according to size or need?

—Whether the bill should contain a provision banning aid to school districts maintaining segregated schools.

President Eisenhower has asked for a $1,300,000,000 program and he has sent word to Capitol Hill that he still wants a program that big despite the congressional economy drive.

The President also has asked Congress to keep the segregation issue out of the program. The segregation issue helped kill the program last year.

Other congressional news:

Enemy Assets: A Senate Judiciary subcommittee started hearings again this year to consider legislation to return some half billion dollars in enemy assets seized during World War II. The subcommittee approved similar bills in 1954 and 1956 only to have the Senate kill them.

Budget: The House scheduled a series of roll call votes on cuts in an appropriations bill to run the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The House has cut 187 million dollars of the $2,900,000,000 requested by President Eisenhower. Rep. John E. Fogarty (D-R.I.), floor manager for the bill, predicted some of the cuts would be restored.

Ambassadors: Chairman Theodore Francis Green of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee urged that American ambassadors be chosen primarily for ability instead of political activity. Green said in a letter to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that he was deeply concerned about recent ambassadorial appointments.

Refugees Chairman Francis Walter of the House Immigration subcommittee said the government will halt its Hungarian refugee program in two weeks. Walter's subcommittee has been investigating the program.

GOING TO THE GAS CHAMBER — Stephen Nash, 33, snarls and struggles against his fetters in Los Angeles as officers haul him away to await a gas chamber death. Nash was convicted of two murders.

Mass Arrests to Halt Killings in Santiago

SANTIAGO, Chile (UP)— The government resorted today to mass arrests to halt an orgy of killing, rioting, arson and looting which has turned this capital city into a shambles. More than 700 persons were in custody.

Unofficial sources reported at least 14 persons killed and more than 240 injured, 40 of them in serious condition. Military authorities, in virtual control of the city under modified martial law, refused to release casualty figures.

The riots started as a protest against increases in the cost of living, but government investigators were trying to discover if they were used as a cover for a plot to overthrow the government.

An official spokesman denied reports of any cabinet crisis.

President Carlos Ibanez kept in close touch with the heads of the three armed forces in an attempt to bring the city back to normal.

City streets were practically deserted Wednesday night and groups of workers started repairing the system of street lights destroyed by the mobs.

Police and soldiers used anti-aircraft searchlights to ferret out snipers who fired sporadically from Santiago's tall buildings, particularly along Bernardo O'Higgins Ave.

The riots began Tuesday with a student demonstration against a 50 per cent rise in transport fares. But authorities said hoodlums from the slum areas and Communist agitators took advantage of them and caused most of the destruction and violence.

Police had to beat back a mob from the Palace Wednesday for the third time in 24 hours.

Westingthouse in Drive for Record Sales This Year

BALTIMORE (UP)—Gwilym A. Price, president of Westinghouse Electric Corp., predicted yesterday that the company's comeback effort in 1957 will be capped by a record sales performance of $2 billion.

Price told the annual stockholders meeting here that first quarter earnings were running at the rate of 75 cents a share compared with a net loss of $18,575,000 in the first quarter a year ago.

He further estimated that the company would show a first half profit "in the neighborhood" of $1.50 a share as against a net loss of $11,713,000 in the first half last year.

The Westinghouse executive said second-half profits are expected to average about 40 cents a share a month bringing 1957 profits to between $3.50 and $4 a share.

More than 1,000 stockholders from 20 states jammed the huge airplane hangar at the company's airport plant near here to hear the fate of their company which suffered financial difficulties last year as a result of a crippling production strike.

Price disclosed that the company will boost prices on industrial products and apparatus during the second half.

The firm's backlogs for non-defense products are at a new high, he said.

Macing Trial Scheduled to Begin May 6

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Four of 15 Republicans indicted on payroll macing charges in 1954 will go on trial May 6, Asst. Dist. Atty. Earle T. Adair of Allegheny County said today.

The macing charges developed during the 1954 May primary campaign. State payrollers contended they were being illegally pressured into contributing a part of their salaries to a campaign fund for primary candidates backed by Gov. John S. Fine.

The first trial of the 15 former state officials indicted will have as defendants:

Artemas C. Leslie, former state insurance commissioner; Frederick P. Hare Jr., former administrative assistant to Governor Fine; George A. Nally, state Revenue Department controller, and Fred M. Campbell, an insurance investigator. All have denied the state's charges.

Large Crowd Attends P.T.A. Meeting at High School

Some 300 persons attended the Rostraver Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday at the High School with Mrs. Eva Altiers, president, in charge. Erma Echart was piano accompanist as the group sang "America".

Reports were given by Madeline Fustich, secretary, and Loretta Suman, treasurer. Mrs. Francis Pasier, of the ways and means committee, gave a report on the successful fashion show held recently and expressed her appreciation to those who made it such.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of candidates: Mrs. Altiers, president; Mrs. Alice Criss, vice-president; Mrs. Leona Stewart, recording secretary; Mrs. Kay Yoder, recording secretary; Mrs. Peg Massa, treasurer, and Mrs. Pasierb, historian. The group accepted the nominations and announced that the installation will be held at the next meeting.

The regular meeting included grandfather-father-son night and souvenirs were distributed to each.

A film was shown by Henry Dragan.

Prizes were given to Erastus Bowen, oldest grandfather; James Wiant, youngest grandfather; James Echart, youngest father; H. L. Lee, oldest son; John Span, most sons, and Charles Steadman, most grandchildren.

Lunch was served by P. T. A. ladies in the home economics room.

Scientist Taking Job of Explorer

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

NEW YORK (UP) — One of America's veteran Antarctic explorers—a man with three and a quarter years at the bottom of the world to his credit—feels he has had the best of the last frontier.

"The scientist is replacing the explorer in the Antarctic," said Lt. Cmdr. Jack Bursey of the U.S. Coast Guard. "I hate to say it, but the feeling of adventure is gone. It began to go when the airplane replaced the dog team."

Bursey returned to the United States last Monday from the Geophysical Year's Deep Freeze I expedition, his third winter night spent in the glacial vastness below the Antarctic circle. Next month he will be released from the Coast Guard to finish a book for Rand McNally entitled "Antarctic Night" and begin a lecture tour.

Dog Team Driver

Bursey made his initial Antarctic voyage with the first Byrd expedition in 1929 as a dog team driver on the basis of experience he picked up as a child in his native Newfoundland. On the Pacific Coast survey expedition of 1940, he drove a team of Malemutes and Siberians 1,220 miles to explore the Hal Flood range and give his name to one of its 10,000-foot peaks. No one has visited Mt. Bursey since.

"Those were the days—my dog days," the ruddy, 52 - year - old Grand Rapids, Mich., resident said. "It's difficult to describe the excitement of traveling into the whiteness of space with your team, wondering what will be over the next ridge. It's thrilling to explore by plane, too, but it's not the same."

Modern transportation methods, which have relegated the sled dog solely to rescue operations, have opened the Antarctic so rapidly that most territory being covered in the current Deep Freeze II expedition will be terrain already mapped, he said. As the geographical frontiers vanish, the scientific frontiers take their place.

"The future of the Antarctic belongs to the astronomer, the glaciologist and the geologist," said Bursey.

Engineer Killed in Collision

SECAUCUS, N.J. (UP)—The engineer of a Pennsylvania Railroad commuter train was killed and 26 passengers were injured Wednesday night when it slammed into the rear of a "deadhead" baggage train near here.

The engineer, Clyde E. Cochrane, 58, of Iselin, N.J., was crushed inside the cab of the engine which was derailed in the New Jersey meadows about six miles west of New York City.

The injured were returned to Pennsylvania Station in New York in the undamaged passenger cars and taken to St. Vincent's and Bellevue hospitals for treatment.

The six-car local left Penn Station for New Brunswick N.J., at 11:05 p.m. EST, with 156 passengers. It struck the rear of a standing eight-car New York Central baggage train east of Secaucus shortly after it emerged from a tunnel under the Hudson River.

The passenger train engine and two cars of the baggage train were derailed blocking the main line. Seven trains scheduled to leave Penn Station were delayed.

The crack Keystone Limited carrying 400 passengers from Washington to New York, bore down on the scene on an eastbound track shortly after the wreck. The engineer slammed on his brakes when he spotted signal flares but the parlor car of the Limited scraped one of the derailed cars. No one was injured on the Limited.

DENVER GOT IT LIKE THIS — The April blizzard which plopped two feet of snow in some states on eastern slopes of the Rockies left this scene in Denver, Colo. — snow so heavy on a tree that the tree cracked down on a passing car. Travelers didn't like the blizzard, but farmers called it a godsend for its moisture.

Berserk French War Hero Kills Retired U.S. General and Wife

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—A berserk French war hero Wednesday night killed a retired American brigadier general once an adviser to Chiang Kai-shek and the general's wife because he said they foiled his suicide plans.

Maurice M. Chavigny, 43, a former French Legionnaire and veteran of four wars, told police he killed Brig. Gen. W. R. McReynolds (Ret.) and his wife, Faye with seven shots when they "rushed at me" to try and take away his .22 caliber automatic pistol. He had been living with the couple.

Officers captured Chavigny after a 20-block shooting chase. Chavigny was booked temporarily for investigation of murder. He was crying and muttering in broken English when he emerged from an intensive police questioning.

McReynolds, 64, who helped inaugurate the Army's use of "C" and "K" rations, was found sprawled in the living room of his comfortable home on Snell Island, an exclusive residential area here.

Shot five times, he lay in a pool of blood, clad in walking shorts and a T-shirt.

Mrs. McReynolds a youthful-looking woman of 60, was lying in the kitchen of their home dressed in tight-fitting torreador pants.

Lee said Chavigny, a short handsome man with graying hair told investigators he had "tried several times before" to leave the McReynolds, but each time the couple pleaded with him to stay on.

He finally "made up my mind to kill myself," he said.

Detective Lt. Ralph Lee said Chavigny told of buying the pistol and putting on his army uniform in preparation to leaving the McReynolds home. Lee said Mrs. McReynolds and then the general "rushed him" and tried to take away the gun. The shooting followed.

McReynolds, a veteran of 32 years in the Army and two world wars, retired from duty in 1949 and moved here with his wife in 1951. He was a native of Spring Valley, Ohio, and a graduate of the University of Ohio.

Drive for Industry Gains

PITTSBURGH (UP)—William L. Batt Jr., state secretary of labor and industry, says Pennsylvania's drive to bring new industry to hard-hit areas has been "highly successful."

But he urged support of a U.S. Senate proposal which would add $300 million of federal funds to help in a campaign across the nation.

Batt, here to attend the Western Pennsylvania Safety Engineering Conference, told newsmen Wednesday the "get-new-plants drive" spearheaded by the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority will stand as a landmark in the state's history.

"I think it may be one of the principal contributions Gov. Leader will have made to the Pennsylvania economy," he declared.

The authority in its first seven months has learned about $3 million to help build or expand 21 factories, he said.

The new facilities have created 4,500 jobs where most needed, he said.

Batt said 11 Pennsylvania areas mostly in the coal region, have substantial labor surpluses and are suffering hard times.

"No local community like Altoona should have to bear the full brunt of a revolution such as the change from coal-power to diesel-powered locomotives," he said.

In asking support of the federal bill, Batt asserted: "It seems to us it is a national problem with the initiative coming from the local community."

According to the U.S. Department of the Interior, 18 million adults, five million of whom were women, fished in 1955.

Treat Aspirin Like 'Poison' if Home Has Small Children

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — More children are poisoned by aspirin than by any other substance.

The "harmless" white tablets, a familiar fixture in every medicine cabinet, send more than 100,000 toddlers to hospital emergency rooms each year.

They are responsible for more poisonings than lye, ammonia, roach powder, cleaning fluids, shoe polish and laundry bleach combined.

These facts are well-known to doctors. They apparently are not so well known to parents, who persist in leaving bottles of aspirin on the shelf next to the tooth paste, within easy reach of small fry.

Doctors who attended the spring meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics here this week listed aspirin poisoning as one of the major remaining menaces to childhood health. Academy leaders urged all pediatricians and the press to join in a campaign to warn parents of the danger.

Lock Aspirin Up

"If you have a child under four in your home," said Dr. Harold Jacobziner, assistant health commissioner of New York City," you should treat aspirin like a deadly poison.

"Don't put it on the top shelf of the medicine closet. Lock it up."

Jacobziner said small children seem to have a natural penchant for eating aspirin by the handful.

"They apparently like the taste of ordinary aspirin tablets, which most adults find bitter, as well as the flavored aspirin which are put up especially for children," he said.

This dangerous appetite is whetted, the doctor continued, by parents who "foolishly tell a child that the aspirin the doctor has prescribed for him is 'candy.'"

"Never tell a child that any medicine is candy," he said, waving his finger under a reporter's nose. "Tell them it's medicine and the doctor said they should take just this much, no more."

Aspirin in large enough quantities is toxic even to adults. But it takes very much less to poison a child than to poison a grown-up.

Have Poor Toleration

"Some children, especially when they are ill, do not tolerate aspirin well," Jacobziner explained. "Even a relatively small amount can be hazardous to a very young child. No parent should undertake to give a child aspirin without consulting the doctor."

Once a child has gulped a fistful of aspirin, Jacobziner said, there are only two things a parent can do:

1. Make him vomit immediately.

2. Get him to a hospital as quickly as possible.

Hospitals, by applying emergency resuscitative measures, usually can save the life of an aspirin-poisoned child if he gets there in time.

"The death rate so far has been mercifully low, less than one per cent," said Jacobziner. "But it is tragically unnecessary for any child to die, to have a close brush with death, from this cause.

"All we need is to use a little common sense and lock up that aspirin bottle."

WAITING — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles tells a news conference that the U. S. should know within 24 to 48 hours whether Egypt intends to enter serious negotiations to solve the Suez Canal crisis.

No False Alarm

MIAMI (UP)—A set of falsies touched off a $4,600 fire at a laundry and dry cleaning plant early Wednesday. A plant operator said the sponge rubber figure aids apparently were left in a dryer with other clothes during the night and exploded from the heat.

Girl to Take Test

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Beaver High School co-ed Betty Bennett had a "coming out" party Wednesday.

The pretty sophomore, who has been flying since the age of three, had her first ride in a jet fighter, courtesy of the U. S. Air Force.

With Capt. Richard Prave at the controls, Betty took off in an Air Force T-33 jet trainer from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport for a 35 minute flight north to Erie, Pa., and Youngstown, Ohio, and south to Wheeling, W. Va.

"It was thrilling. . .It was wonderful," she exclaimed when she returned to her waiting parents. She said Capt. Prave even flew over her Beaver Falls home.

But thrilling as the experience was, Betty is looking forward longingly to her "Sweet Sixteen" party next Monday. Her celebration, however, will have a different twist.

Betty flew her first solo at the age of 10 in Cuba because U. S. regulations forbid soloing in this country under 16. She'll reach 16 Monday and her father, an aircraft executive who once was a test pilot, has agreed to let her solo then for her U. S. pilot's license.

The flight will be in a conventional propeller-driven craft, not the speedy jet that whisked her about at more than 500 miles an hour.

But Betty can wait. She knows she'll get her chance at the jets too.

Low Flying Charge?

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Police debated today whether they could give Raymond Graber a ticket for low flying. He startled a number of drivers Wednesday by taxing his light plane, minus its wings, down the highway.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

Scallions Are Delicious Either Fresh or Cooked

Those bunches of scallions or spring onions, as you may call them, are irresistible when they first come to market. Nothing is better than these with fresh bread and butter

Edith Barber

When I was a child, we could hardly wait for the plants at the foot of the garden to spring through the ground. Then we had to wait a week or two before they could be picked and enjoyed.

Later when they had become a little strong for eating in raw form, we found that the small bulbs with a few inches of the green tops could be cooked and dressed with a cream sauce. These were always served on toast and sometimes sprinkled with grated cheese.

The small white onions that are often known as "boilers" have a much longer season than scallions. After peeling them, I like to cook them in butter over low heat and covered No water is needed if directions are followed

If you prefer to have these slightly browned, the cover can be removed after the onions are tender and they can be tossed in the butter when the heat is increased If you like them with a glaze, they may be sprinkled with a little sugar at this point.

BUTTERED ONIONS

1½ pounds onions
cup butter

Wash and peel onions Melt butter in heavy saucepan, add onions, cover and cook over low heat 20 to 40 minutes until tender No seasoning is necessary when onions are cooked in this way, and even strong-flavored onions will be sweet and delicate Yield 6 servings.

SPRING ONIONS (SCALLIONS) ON TOAST

Spring onions (scallions)
½ inch boiling water in saucepan
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter or margarin
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
6 slices toast
Grated Cheddar cheese for garnish

Peel green onions, leaving on 2 inches of the green tops. Place, while, in saucepan with boiling water and salt Cover and boil 1 to 2 minutes, lifting cover two or three times during cooking period Drain Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly until of medium thickness Blend in salt and ground black pepper. Place cooked green onions on toast and pour over cream sauce Sprinkle with grated cheese Yield 6 servings.

Oranges Are Healthful In Any Form

It would seem as if the citrus fruit producers had missed a bet April really should be proclaimed as Orange Month. One can be very discriminating and choose the Florida Valencias for juice and the California navels for eating out of hand or slicing

Actually the Valencias, as the crop matures, will be almost seedless, as are the Navels, and can also be used for a fruit cup or for favorite mixed fruit dessert, ambrosia Often sliced bananas and grapefruit sections are combined with the oranges and grated or shredded coconut may be added

In an earlier day the orange was reserved for special occasions, and grapefruit half a century ago was little used When this fruit first came to market, it was seedy and the flavor was slightly bitter. Only the sophisticated acknowledged a taste for it

The orange juice habit was not formed until modern methods of cultivation had been established The quality of the fruit, through grafting of various types of trees and, in California, through irrigation of the groves, has steadily improved

Take citrus fruits daily because of the vitamin content and the flavor After all, that is the best test for permanent popularity of any food.

COMES SPRING, COMES SCALLIONS. Fresh, they're delicious with lavishly buttered bread. Cooked, they're delectable when dressed with cream sauce, served on toast, and sprinkled with grated cheese.

Tasty Recipes

ORANGE JELLY

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup lemon juice
1½ cups orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind

Soften gelatin in cold water, dissolve with boiling water and add remaining ingredients Pour into 1 quart mold and chill until set Unmold serve with whipped cream or custard sauce.

MICHAEL SAUCE

2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¾ cup sour cream
2 teaspoons tarragon vinegar
½ teaspoon paprika

Mix slightly beaten egg yolks with sour cream, vinegar, and paprika in small saucepan. Hold saucepan over a larger pan containing hot — but not boiling — water and stir constantly until mixture thickens and becomes smooth. Remove from heat and season with salt, if desired. Serve at once with poached or steamed fish, asparagus, broccoli, or cauliflower. Yield: about 1 cup sauce.

Less Fat for Adults Who Use Skim Milk

There is nothing spectacular in the proclamation by the American Dairy Association and the Cereal Institute of April as the month for celebrating the fourth annual Spring Cereal and Milk Festival.

As the majority of families use these two products at breakfast almost every day of the year, menus will not be changed. The point stressed, however, is based on research work which shows the advantages of cereal and skim milk as a choice for adults, especially men of middle age, who are interested in low fat, low cholesterol diet. This is believed to have something to do with the prevention of arterial disease.

If a physician finds that a more satisfying breakfast is needed by an adult patient, two slices of bacon, dry cooked, will be added rather than an egg, because the latter has a high cholesterol content. As you have probably noticed, much of the natural fat of bacon is removed during the cooking, and especially if the slices are well drained on soft paper after they are browned.

Of course children and young people may continue to drink whole milk and to eat eggs that are so nutritionally valuable. And for some reason women do not seem to have the arterial problems of older men.

OATMEAL WITH DATES

Cook rolled oats according to directions on package. A few minutes before serving, add coarsely cut dates and reheat. Serve with milk or cream as desired.

READY-TO-EAT CEREAL WITH FRUIT

Be sure cereal is crisp. If box has been opened and not reclosed tightly, cereal may become limp. In this case place thin layer in baking pan and heat about 3 minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) Serve with seedless raisins, cut dried figs or dates, or stewed fruit.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs Bertha Ann Lucas, who died 17 years ago today, April 4, 1940.
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Husband, Son, and Family

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Nicholas Kohut, who died one year ago today, April 4, 1956.
What would we give his hand to clasp,
His patient face to see;
To hear his voice, to see his smile,
As in the days that used to be
But in some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more.
In Heaven, that happy life
Sadly missed by Wife, Sons Daughter and Son-in-law, Mr and Mrs. Ted Paulev and Son

In loving memory of our dear son Nicholas Kohut, who died one year ago today, April 4, 1956.
Today is a day of remembrance
And many sad regrets;
A day we shall always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
We sit here in the evening,
Often when we are alone.
Wishing, hoping and longing
If you could only come home.
A loving son, so good and kind,
No one on earth like him we'll find,
For each of us he did his best,
May God grant him eternal rest.
His thoughts were all so full of us,
He never could forget
And so we think that where he is,
He must be watching us yet
Sadly missed by Mother and Father

In loving memory of our dear brother, brother-in-law and uncle, Nick Kohut, who died one year ago today, April 4, 1956.
One lonely year has passed away
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day,
We still remember well,
Your end was sudden, Nick
It made us weep and cry,
But the saddest part of all
You never said goodbye
God gave us strength and courage
To carry the blow,
But what it means to miss you
God will only know.
You have taken your long last journey
In a beautiful ship called Rest
To the home of Eternal Rest
Always so good, unselfish and kind
None on this earth your equal we'll find,
Honorable and true in all of your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days
Honest and liberal, ever upright
Just in your judgment, always right,
Loved by your friends and all who you knew
One in a million that dear one was you.
One year has passed, and our hearts are still sore
As time rolls on, we miss you more
A loving brother, brother-in-law and uncle, tender and kind
What beautiful memories you left behind
Sadly missed by his brother, Ted, sister-in-law, Stella, Teddy Jr, Patty and Ricky

In loving memory of our dear brother, brother-in-law and uncle, Nicholas Kohut, who died one year ago today, April 4, 1956
He would not want the ones he loved
To grieve for him today,
We must not say that he is dead
For he is just away.
Away upon a journey
To a land that's bright and fair;
And though we miss him here,
We know he's happy there
And memories of him will bring
New comfort every day,
As we recall . . he is not dead,
For he is just away
Sadly missed by Sisters, Brothers, Brothers-in-law, Sisters-in-law, Nieces and Nephews

In loving memory of our dear brother, brother-in-law and uncle, Nicholas Kohut, who died one year ago today, April 4, 1956.
It's lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to us,
Since he was called away.
Gone from us that smiling face,
Those carefree happy ways,
The heart that won so many friends
In bygone happy days
Sadly missed by Mr and Mrs William Kohut and Son

Special Audits Cause Delays In Tax Refunds

WASHINGTON (UP)—If your income tax refund is overdue, chances are your return is getting a special audit.

The Internal Revenue Reserve explained today that its 64 regional offices check up on tax returns which call for refunds over a certain figure. The figure varies—depending on the time of the year and the work load on auditors.

The service said regional offices might double check all returns calling for a refund of more than $25 if they are filed right after Jan. 1. Returns were light at that time. The figure could go as high as $300 in April, when the bulk of returns start pouring in.

The special audit, which has been in effect for several years, causes some delays in getting refunds into the mail. In many cases, the auditors have found mistakes and disallowed deduction claimed by the taxpayer.

Penn Gets Largest Gift

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The University of Pennsylvania has received the largest gift from an individual in the school's 217-year old history with a grant of more than $3.5 million from the will of a retired Philadelphia furniture manufacturer, it was announced Wednesday.

The First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co. said the will of Gustave C. Kuemmerle filed for probate in Montgomery County Orphans Court at Norristown, left the bulk of his estate to the University.

Kuemmerle, a graduate of the University's Wharton School in 1898, died at his home in nearby Fort Washington last March 23. The value of his estate was estimated at upwards of $4 million.

The university will receive the entire residuary estate after personal bequests are made to Robert H. Kraeger, Jenkintown, Pa., a cousin of Kuemmerle, and to three employes who live at his home—William T. Blaker and Henry and Amalia Lehnhoff.

Bank officers were unable to name the exact amount the university will receive but they said the gift will exceed the school's previous record of $3.5 million. The fund may be used for whatever purposes the school's trustees decide.

Gaylord P. Harnwell, Penn president, said the funds will be directed toward meeting "a demand for admission which is growing steadily and which, it is anticipated, will reach unprecedented heights during the next decade or two."

Oldtimer Says 'Wyatt Earp' not Genuine

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Hugh (Wyatt Earp) O'Brian's fancy vest and Roy Rogers' glittering shirts brought a groan and a guffaw today from a great Western star of the past, Guinn (Big Boy) Williams.

Big Boy, now 58, is a co-star of NBC's "Circus Boy" television series, but back in the '20's he was one of the first top sage brush heroes.

What today's cowpoke, particularly the TV variety, wears while rounding up the villians makes the usually affable Big Boy sputter.

"When I hear Earp's name I get indigestion," he said. "I like O'Brian's acting, but I look at that show to get laughs. If real cowhands ever saw Hugh they'd laugh themselves to death. He should have a corset and bustle with that outfit. The real-life Earp didn't dress that fancy.

Dated Clara Bow

"Besides," he added, "Hugh wears his guns too low. Guy Madison and Jim Arness dress ok on TV, though."

Big Boy starred in 34 Westerns in the '20's. He was one of the most colorful celebrities of that colorful era. He owned 125 polo ponies. He romanced such beauties as Clara Bow and Lupe Velez, and today's glamour girls, he says, don't hold an eyelash to them.

Since the '30's, Big Boy has been a supporting player in many big Westerns, such as last year's "The Man From Del Rio" starring Anthony Quinn.

He admits sorrowfully that his stardom of the '20's didn't last possibly because he didn't go in for the fancy clothes. In his early movies, Big Boy, an authentic rancher's son from Decatur, Tex., wore real cowhands' outfits—blue jeans and a plain, blue work shirt.

Tom Mix To Blame

"Tom Mix started it — fancy white boots and shirts with diamond-shaped pockets," Big Boy reminisced. "Autry and Rogers picked it up. Of course, Harry Carey was a wonderful Western star and he didn't wear those fancy clothes.

"Will Rogers didn't wear fancy clothes in his early Westerns, either, but they were failures! Will gave me my nickname of 'Big Boy'.

"I guess if I had it to do over again, I'd learn to dance, sing and play a guitar. I'd go into it for all it was worth. I never even had a press agent," he said, and shook his massive head.

Williams and his wife often visit their 5,500-acre ranch near Spofford, Tex. As he still retains his Texan citizenship, I asked big boy if he saw "Giant."

"I was so mad at that movie I couldn't speak for a week!" he boomed. "I'm glad I wasn't in it —I would have been ashamed to go back to Texas."

Diabetes Isn't Result Of Too Many Sweets

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Sweets don't cause diabetes.

Eating a lot of candy, cake and other foods filled with sugar might add pounds to your weight, but it won't be a direct cause of diabetes.

It might, however, be a contributing factor. Too much weight isn't good for anybody. For those of you who are middle-aged, it is an especially dangerous burden.

Thus, overeating any foods — especially those containing large amounts of starches or sweets — should be avoided. But sweets or sugars as such won't bring on diabetes.

The disease is caused by certain abnormalities of the pancreas, a digestive organ. It is a condition in which the body cannot use sugar.

All foods contain some sugar. When the body digests this sugar, it is changed into a form which is carried in the blood stream to the body tissues where it is used as food.

Before the body cells can use this sugar, the pancreas must secrete a substance called insulin into the blood.

When insulin is lacking, you have diabetes. In such a case, the body cells cannot use the sugar and it accumulates in the blood and the urine.

The type of food a diabetic eats is extremely important. Sugars, of course, are virtually banned. And since starchy foods like cereals, potatoes and macaroni are converted by digestion almost entirely into sugar, thay also are limited in any diabetic diet.

By carefully following a prescribed diet, and using injections of prepared insulin, many diabetics can lead normal lives.

While most patients will have to continue watching their diets and taking insulin for the rest of their lives, many elderly victims require only temporary doses of insulin.

Among domesticated animals, the horse lives the longest. It lives from 20 to 35 years while cows rarely live beyound 25 and dogs live five to 15 years, occasionally 20.

Homeowners Warned About Gyp Salesmen

A group of "hoaxsters" has moved into the Monessen district to plague homeowners, Joseph Friedland, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Business Affairs Committee, warned today.

The questionable operators, Friedland pointed out, range from phoney "tree surgeons" to "termite inspectors". They also include the "furnace repair gyp artists," who probably are the biggest — and meanest — swindlers of them all. They usually concentrate on older folks for their prey.

Here is one of the techniques used by the "furnace repair experts":

They usually work in pairs. One "smooth talks" a homeowner into letting him inspect the furnace. The other waits out-of-sight outside until he thinks the inside man has talked the owner into allowing him to inspect the furnace.

The outside man then knocks on the door of the house. As the owner is answering the door, the inside man goes to work on damaging the furnace. Sometimes he'll crack the grate or walls.

The outside man then joins the inside man and the two tell the owner of the serious condition of the furnace and how it needs repairs before "someone gets hurt from a blast or escaping fumes."

The unsuspecting owner, in many cases, tells the men to go ahead and make repairs. The gyp artists always over-rate the damage. The bill the owner receives is exorbitant.

Offer Inspection

Another trick by the — "furnace experts" — is to secure access to the furnace room by offering a free inspection or posing as an official inspector. Once inside, he really goes to work. He completely dismantles the furnace and then pronounces it dangerous or beyond repair. If asked to reassemble the furnace, he says he cannot accept the responsibility for reassembling such a worn-out and dangerous furnace.

If the frightened homeowner agrees to buy a new furnace, the gyp charges an enormous price for an inferior installation that wasn't needed in the first place.

Friedland also alerted residents to be on the lookout for all salesmen who peddle combination storm windows and doors at extremely low prices. He said the unscrupulous sellers use this approach as "bait" and then try to switch the homeowner to more expensive products.

Model Home Racket

In the building and home repair field, he warned against the model home racket, in which the gyp artists pretend to give "bargain prices" to persons who will allow them to show the completed job to other prospective customers. Commissions are sometimes offered to the homeowner for sales made in this way. However, such offers usually prove to be "come-on" and the homeowner gets no commission whatsoever for allowing persons to inspect his "model home". The "bargain prices" are well-padded, too, Friedland pointed out.

He said there are many legitimate firms and salesmen calling on homes in Monessen, but "there are also a good many swindlers operating, too."

He advised property owners to contact the Chamber of Commerce if they have "any doubts about firms or persons not known to you personally."

Canadian Diplomat Is Suicide

CAIRO (UP)— Canadian Ambassador Egerton H. Norman committed suicide early today because of charges in a U.S. Senate subcommittee that he was a Communist. The Canadian government denied the charges.

The Canadian Embassy announced the death of the 48-year-old career diplomat in a pointed statement which said he was an "extremely conscientious public servant" and that "recent unpleasant publicity and accusations greatly distressed him."

The widespread publicity branding Norman a Communist sprang from a Senate subcommittee's action March 14 in releasing the transcript in which he was branded a Red. Committee Counsel Robert Morris said the subcommittee had "quite a few security reports which have a great deal of information to the effect that he is a Communist."

The Canadian External Affairs Department sent a heated denial to the State Department. It was reported to have been one of the sharpest ever sent from Ottawa to Washington and it expressed full confidence in the ambassador.

The Canadian government issued a series of statements declaring the subcommittee findings false. Canadian newspapers rose to his defense and said Norman had been "dragged through the muck" for no justifiable reason.

Brazilian Company Orders Locomotives

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—South America's biggest steel mill has placed an order with General Electric Co. for about $500,000 worth of industrial locomotives as part of a major plant expansion program, it was announced today.

Companhia Siderurgica Nacional of Brazil will receive the locomotives, four wide-gage switcher-type 100-ton diesel-electrics, in about eight months.

The locomotives will be built by GE's locomotive and car equipment department here.

Red Composer Hits Controls

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet composer Dimitri Shostakovich denounced musical bosses laying down laws for composers Tuesday and demanded new leadership for the Composers Union which runs the Soviet musical world. Shostakovich told the Composers Congress the new leadership should be "without any place for musical bureaucracy and red tape."

Linde Strike Settled; Area Plant Involved

NEW YORK (UP)—Linde Air Productions division of the Union Carbide & Carbon Corp. announced today the signing of two separate contracts with the International Chemical Workers Union representing workers at Pittsburgh and Duquesne, Pa. plants.

The two-year contract which has a wage re-opener at the end of the first year becomes effective Thursday. The contract provides a 12-cent hourly across-the-board wage increase; eight paid holidays instead of seven; time and a half plus straight time for holiday work; a 30-cent premium on straight time and a 10-cent additional pay for second shift workers.

The contract covers 22 production workers at the Pittsburgh plant and 91 at the Duquesne.

The contract was precisely the same as that offered to striking Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers Union members who have been on strike at Linde plants in Kittanning and Essington, Pa.; Moundsville, W. Va.; Youngstown, Ohio and Tonawanda, N.Y. since Jan. 25.

Uniontown Gets Project Okay

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Commerce Department today announced allocation of $43,250 to the Redevelopment Authority of Fayette County for slum clearance in Uniontown.

The subsidy will be used to redevelop the area in the center of the community in the vicinity of the King Feed Store, a tract nearly an acre in size. The area, when cleared, will be used for recreational facilities and parking lots, according to Commerce Secretary William R. Davlin.

Federal funds will provide two-thirds of the money necessary for the project.

Easter, Passover Season in Israel

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP)—Spring was in the air here today as the nation prepared for the influx of thousands of visitors for Easter and the Passover and for the return of the families of American and other diplomats sent out of the Mideast last fall.

Premier David Ben-Gurion said he welcomed the "timely" lifting of the U. S. ban on travel to the Middle East while Israel prepared —among other facilities—its first 18-hole golf course. A popular local joke was that golf course is "laying the ground for an Eisenhower visit."
